JURISDICTION OF COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

RULE X

ESTABLISHMENT AND JURISDICTION OF STANDING COMMITTEES

THE COMMITTEES AND THEIR JURISDICTION

1. There shall be in the House the following standing committees, each of which shall have the jurisdiction and related functions assigned to it by this clause and clauses 2, 3, and 4; and all bills, resolutions, and other matters relating to subjects within the jurisdiction of any standing committee as listed in this clause shall (in accordance with and subject to clause 5) be referred to such committees, as follows:

* * * * * * *

(v) Committee on Ways and Means.
    (1) Customs, collection districts, and ports of entry and delivery.
    (2) Reciprocal trade agreements.
    (3) Revenue measures generally.
    (4) Revenue measures relating to the insular possessions.
    (5) The bonded debt of the United States * * *.
    (6) The deposit on public moneys.
    (7) Transportation of dutiable goods.
    (8) Tax exempt foundations and charitable trusts.
    (9) National social security, except (A) health care and facilities programs that are supported from general revenues as opposed to payroll deductions and (B) work incentive programs.

NOTE. As a select committee the Committee on Ways and Means dates from 1789. It was made a standing committee in 1802. Originally it considered both revenue and appropriations, but in 1865 the appropriation bills were given to the Committee on Appropriations, and certain other bills to what is now the Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs. The subject of recesses and final adjournments, formerly within the jurisdiction of this committee was, under the Reorganization Act of 1946, transferred to the Committee on Rules.

SUMMARIES OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS REPORTED BY COMMITTEE—IN NUMERICAL ORDER

H.R. 2 (Mr. Anderson with cosponsors); Public Law 100–17; enacted without approval Apr. 2, 1987.

H.R. 2, the Surface Transportation and Uniform Relocation Assistance Act of 1987, was referred to the Public Works and Transportation Committee. On Jan. 6, 1987, the Ways and Means Committee ordered reported a revenue title to be included in the bill under a rule. On Jan. 8, 1987, the Rules Committee granted a rule providing for a new title V (revenue) to the bill. H.R. 2 passed the House on Jan. 21, 1987. On Feb. 4, 1987, the bill passed the Senate with amendments, and the Senate requested a conference with the House. On Feb. 19, 1987, the House disagreed to the Senate amendments and agreed to a conference. The conference report was filed and agreed to in the House on Mar. 17, 1987. On Mar. 19, 1987, the Senate agreed to the conference report.

On Mar. 22, 1987, the President vetoed the bill. The House overrode the veto on Mar. 27, 1987, and on Apr. 1, 1987, the Senate sustained the veto. On Apr. 2, 1987, the Senate overrode the veto, and the bill became Public Law 100–17, without approval.

A summary of title V of the act follows.

(1) The act raises $75.5 billion in tax revenues for funding of Highway Trust Fund programs by extending the current Highway Trust Fund taxes and exemptions for 5 years, through Sept. 30, 1993.

(2) The act extends the authority to make expenditures out of the Highway Trust Fund for 5 additional years, through Sept. 30, 1993.

(3) The act extends the highway user tax on heavy trucks to any heavy truck driven over 5,000 miles on U.S. roads, regardless of the country in which the truck is registered. The tax on trucks registered in foreign countries would be at 75 percent of the rate charged to trucks registered in the United States to reflect lower average highway use by those vehicles and would go into effect July 1, 1987.

(4) The act would apply the heavy vehicle use tax based on a presumptive retail sales price in the case of sales to lessors for future long-term leasing and direct sales by manufacturers, effective on the first calendar quarter 90 days after the date of enactment.

H.R. 3 (Mr. Gephardt with cosponsors); passed Senate July 21, 1987. (Pending in conference.)

H.R. 3, the Trade and International Economic Policy Reform Act of 1987, was reported to the House by the Committees on Ways and Means, Energy and Commerce, Foreign Affairs, Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs, and Education and Labor on Apr. 6, 1987, and by the Committee on Agriculture on Apr. 7, 1987. The bill passed the House with amendments on Apr. 30, 1987. The Ways and Means Committee has jurisdiction of titles I, II, and VIII.

The Senate passed the bill with amendments (S. 1420) on July 21, 1987. The House disagreed to the Senate amendments and agreed to a conference with the Senate on Aug. 7, 1987.

A summary of titles I, II, and VIII of the bill as passed the House follows.

TITLE I—TRADE LAW AMENDMENTS

SUBTITLE A—NATIONAL TRADE POLICY AND AGENDA

Sec. 101. National Trade Policy

I. Findings. Contains numerous findings regarding the U.S. trade imbalance, its causes and effects on the U.S. and world economy, and the need for deficit reduction, including the following:

A. The United States is confronted with a fundamental disequilibrium in its trade and current account balances and a rapid increase in its net external debt.

B. This imbalance is a result of numerous factors, including: disparities between the macroeconomic policies of the major trading nations; the large U.S. budget deficit; instablilities and structural defects in the world trade and monetary system; the growth of debt throughout the developing world; governmental distortions and barriers; and serious inadequacies in U.S. trade policy.

C. A continuation of these deficits, coupled with a further accumulation of external debt, will seriously undermine the U.S. economy. This will hasten the decline in living standards of workers and consumers and will increase unemployment. Over time, these changes in U.S. economic conditions will bring about worldwide economic disruptions and stagnation of world trade, thus jeopardizing the economic security of the free world.

D. It is, therefore, essential that the U.S. pursue a broad array of domestic and international policies to ensure future stability in its external trade and to guarantee the continued vitality of America's technological, industrial and agricultural base.

II. Presidential Action Regarding Trade Deficit Reduction. Sets forth a statement of U.S. policy regarding progressive reduction of the U.S. trade deficit and requires Presidential action in numerous areas to achieve this goal. Requires the president to report annually to Congress and explain progress toward such goals.

A. States that it shall be the policy of the United States to reduce substantially its trade and current account deficits and to seek to achieve, no later than 1992, a more consistent equilibrium in such accounts.

B. States further that it is the policy of the United States to maintain a system of reasonably stable exchange rates through greater cooperation and leadership within the international financial system.

C. The President is directed by the Congress to use all appropriate powers to achieve these objectives including:

1. Recommending to the Congress appropriate changes in fiscal, regulatory or general economic policy;
2. Greater efforts to coordinate economic and monetary policy with major U.S. trading partners;
3. More effective use of trade policy measures (including those authorized under this act) to expand markets for U.S. exports, discipline unfair trade policies of other nations and negotiate a more open world trading system; and
4. Better management of Third World debt.

D. The President is required to report to the Congress on an annual basis, in conjunction with his annual trade policy statement, as to his progress in reducing the trade deficit, whether he is achieving the goals of deficit reduction, and if not, why.

Sec. 102. Annual National Trade Policy Agenda

Requires the USTR to submit an annual statement to the Committees on Ways and Means and Finance setting forth trade policy objectives and priorites; actions and legislation to achieve them; and progress made toward their accomplishment. The USTR must consult with the committees on objectives and their status.

Sec. 103. Information and Advice From Private and Public Sectors Relating to Trade Policy and Agreements

Expands the private sector advisory committee functions to include information and advice on development and implementation of overall U.S. trade policy and priorities, as well as negotiation issues; expands the advisory committee structure and advice to the Congress.

Sec. 104. Congressional Liaison Regarding Trade Policy and Agreement

Expands consultation requirements between the USTR and the Congress:

1. Requires consultation and advise from the existing congressional advisors on trade policy development and priorities, as well as negotiations; provides for additional special congressional advisors on specific policy matters or negotiations.
2. Requires the USTR to consult at least 4 times a year with the Committees on Ways and Means and Finance on the development, administration, and implementation of overall U.S. trade policy matters and specific actions under the trade laws.

Sec. 105. Trade Competitiveness Impact Statements

Requires an impact statement from the President to the Committees on Ways and Means and Finance 60 days in advance of issuing a regulation or executive order or proposing legislation that would have a significant impact on competitiveness. This requirement is subject to a national interest or emergency waiver.

SUBTITLE B—TRADE AGREEMENT NEGOTIATING AUTHORITY, ENFORCEMENT OF UNITED STATES RIGHTS UNDER TRADE AGREEMENTS, AND RESPONSE TO FOREIGN TRADE PRACTICES

Chapter 1—Trade Agreement Negotiating Authority

Sec. 111. Overall and Principal Trade Negotiating Objectives of the United States

Sets forth U.S. objectives for trade negotiations:

1. Overall objectives—open, equitable, and reciprocal market access; trade barrier reduction; more effective international trading system.
2. Specific objectives—(a) agriculture; (b) dispute settlement; (c) unfair trade practices; (d) services; (e) intellectual property rights; (f) foreign direct investment; (g) import safeguards; (h) improvement of GATT and MTN agreements; (i) specific barriers; (j) worker rights; (k) access to high technology; (l) LDC graduation; (m) current account surpluses; and (n) trade and monetary coordination.
3. Types of agreements—objectives are to be achieved through multilateral agreements when feasible, but bilateral or other agreements should be negotiated where more effective or appropriate or if multilateral are not feasible.

Contains a sense-of-Congress provision stressing the need to eliminate unfair practices and foreign barriers affecting U.S. agricultural exports and urging the USTR to take all steps and use all its authority to achieve the elimination of such practices and barriers, including but not limited to specified barriers in the European Community, Japan, Korea, Taiwan, India, Canada, Argentina, and other countries, affecting beef, rice, citrus, feedgrains, fruits and nuts, forest products, and other products.

Sec. 112. Trade Agreements Regarding Tariff Bariers

Grants the President 6-year authority (until Jan. 3, 1993) for tariff agreements and to proclaim reductions, continuation, or increases of U.S. duties. Duty reductions on a particular article cannot exceed 60 percent if the International Trade Commission or the USTR determines that any greater reduction on the particular article would have a probable significant adverse economic effect on the domestic industry. Any reductions on such items must be phased in over a 10-year period; reductions on any other import sensitive articles must be phased in over a period up to 10 years.

Sec. 113. Trade Agreements Regarding Other Than Tariff Barriers, and

Sec. 114. Implementation of Trade Agreements

Extends existing nontariff agreement negotiating authority (sec. 102), subject to "fast track" Congressional approval of implementing legislation, for 3 years (until Jan. 3, 1991), with an automatic extension for an additional 2 years (until Jan. 3, 1993) if: (1) the USTR consults with and submits a report to the Committees on Ways and Means and Finance, describing progress made and the need for continued authority; and (2) neither Committee disapproves within 60 legislative days.

Expands the nontariff agreement authority to specifically authorize its subsequent use for an implementing bill to approve the International Convention on the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System and to implement the Harmonized System nomenclature in the U.S. customs tariff.

Extends the existing bilateral trade agreement authority for 5 years until Jan. 1, 1987 (Canada). Requires the USTR to identify, and consult with the committees on, foreign countries that have the best potential for bilateral free trade area relationships.

Links agreement authority to negotiating objectives. Requires a Presidential determination that an agreement achieves applicable overall and specific negotiating objectives (set forth below) and a statement explaining what objectives it does or does not achieve. The statement must also describe efforts to achieve international exchange rate equilibrium and any effects of the agreement on international monetary stability. Requires consultations with Congerss and the private sector, and reports on the achievement of objectives.

Conditional MFN: Requires the President to recommend application of agreement benefits solely to signatory countries assuming obligations, if appropriate and consistent with the agreement and U.S. international obligations.

Sec. 115. Amendments to the Trade Act of 1974

Broadens the scope of advice and information required for trade negotiating purposes, to include information and advice to the President on the effects of any proposed changes in the entire range of nontariff and other barriers on domestic industries and other U.S. economic interests.

Sec. 116. Compensation Authority

Adds compensation authority, if required by international obligations, for import restrictions imposed by legislation or tariff reclassification.

Sec. 117. Tariff Agreements with Canada

Grants the President 5-year authority to enter into and to proclaim tariff agreements with Canada reducing or eliminating duties on a specific list of tariff items.

Sec. 118. Implementation of United States-EC Agreement on Citrus and Pasta

Provides authority for the President to proclaim modifications of certain U.S. duties in order to implement tariff reductions agreed to by the United States in the bilateral agreement with the European Community concluded on Feb. 24, 1987, with respect to citrus products.

Sec. 119. Report on Negotiations to Eliminate Wine Trade Barriers

Requires the USTR to issue an updated report on wine trade barriers within 13 months.

Chapter 2—Enforcement of United States Rights Under Trade Agreements and Response to Foreign Trade Practices

Chapter 2 amends Chapter 1 of Title III of the Trade Act of 1974 (commonly known as "sec. 301"). Sec. 301, as amended by the Trade Agreements Act of 1979 and the Trade and Tariff Act of 1984, is the basic statutory authority for the President to enforce U.S. rights under trade agreements and to obtain the elimination of foreign government unfair trade practices which burden or restrict U.S. commerce.

Sec. 121. Action Required in Response to Determinations;

Sec. 122. Investigatory Procedures;

Sec. 123. Consultation Upon Initiation of Investigations;

Sec. 124. Recommendations for Presidential Action by Trade Representative; and

Sec. 125. Action Decisions by Trade Representative

Secs. 121 through 125 make the following changes to Chapter I of Title III of the Trade Act of 1974:

A. Transfer to the USTR, from the President, the authority to make determinations of whether foreign practices meet sec. 301 criteria. Also transfers to the USTR, subject to the direction of the President, the authorities to determine whether action is appropriate and to implement such action.

B. Makes 301 action mandatory for foreign trade agreement violations. Requires that in cases involving foreign violations of trade agreements or other "unjustifiable practices, the USTR must retaliate in an amount equivalent in value to the foreign burden or restriction (the form of retaliation would be at his discretion, with preference given to tariff, rather than quota, restrictions); the USTR must report to Congress on each action. No retaliation would be required if:

1. The GATT determines the practice is not a violation of U.S. rights or does not deny trade agreement benefits.
2. The foreign government has agreed to eliminate or phase out the practice or has agreed to a satisfactory imminent solution of the burden or restriction on U.S. commerce.
3. If number 1 or 2 cannot be achieved, the foreign country has agreed to provide full compensatory trade benefits.
4. The USTR determines such action is not in the national economic interest, because economic interests would be more adversely affected if action were taken than if not, and he reports the reasons to the Congress.

With respect to cases involving "unreasonable" or "discriminatory practices," which do not violate U.S. rights, the USTR would retain discretionary authority to retaliate.

Requires the USTR to take into account the likely impact on agricultural exports of imposing sec. 301 import restrictions.

C. Adds specific authority to remove or deny duty-free treatment under the Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) with respect to a country or any product as a sec. 301 action.

D. Disciplines Export Targeting. Applies sec. 301 specifically to cases where export targeting exists and is, or threatens to be, a significant burden or restriction on U.S. commerce. The USTR must make a determination within 6 months after the investigation is initiated.

USTR action is mandatory if targeting is a significant burden or restriction, unless he finds it is not in the national economic interest because such interests would be more adversely affected if action were taken than if not. If targeting threatens to be a significant burden or restriction, the USTR retains discretionary authority to retaliate.

Actions could include retaliation in an amount equivalent in value to the significant burden, restriction, or agreement by the foreign country to eliminate the burden or restriction or to provide compensatory trade benefits. The President may also take administrative actions or propose legislation to restore or improve the industry's international competitive position. Action must reflect, to the extent possible, the full benefit level of the targeting policy or practice over the period it has an effect.

If the national economic interest waiver is exercised, the USTR must convene a private sector panel of experts, including representatives of the domestic industry and labor, to advise on measures to promote the industry's competitiveness. The panel must report to the USTR within 6 months; the USTR must forward the report to the Congress with his recommendations.

E. Amends the definition of "unreasonable" acts, policies, or practices actionable under sec. 301:

1. Includes the denial of certain worker rights. The USTR may determine the act, policy, or practice does not exist if the foreign country has taken, or is taking, steps that demonstrate significant and measurable overall advancement to afford such rights.
2. Takes into account, as appropriate, reciprocal opportunities in the United States for foreign nationals and firms in determining whether an act, policy, or practice is "unreasonable."
3. Includes the toleration by a foreign government of systematic anticompetitive activities by private firms, or among private firms, in that country that have the effect of restricting, on a basis that is inconsistent with commercial considerations, access of United States goods to purchasing by such firms.

F. Reduces and imposes time limits for action. Requires USTR determinations on whether an act, policy, or practice is actionable under sec. 301 in all cases. Requires USTR decision on action, if any, within a maximum of 18 months in all non-subsidy GATT cases (may be extended up to 3 months if additional time is needed before foreign consultations to prepare the international case), except he may delay implementaton for up to 6 months if substantial progress is being made, or delay is necessary or desirable to achieve U.S. rights or a satisfactory solution, or the petitioner requests delay.

G. Adds investigation procedures relating to the obtaining and use of information from foreign countries; provides for consultations with affected domestic interests (firm, worker, consumer, export) prior to foreign consultations and dispute settlement and prior recommendations on action, including consultations with industry and labor about action in export targeting cases.

H. Adds modification and termination; monitoring; and compensation authority:

1. Allows modification or termination of sec. 301 retaliation at any time if the GATT subsequently finds the foreign practice is not illegal, the practice is eliminated, or retaliation is ineffective. USTR must conduct a biennial review of all sec. 301 actions and may recommend, after consultation with domestic interests, modification or termination.

   Adds a requirement that the semiannual report to the Congress on sec. 301 cases describe the commercial effects of any actions.
2. Requires the USTR to monitor foreign country implementaton of, or compliance with, any agreement to grant U.S. rights, to eliminate or phase out its practice, to remove the burden or restriction on U.S. commerce, or to provide compensatory benefits. If the foreign country is not implementing or complying with a settlement agreement, the USTR must determine what action he should take under sec. 301, subject to the mandatory retaliation provisions and to the time limits and procedural requirements for initial sec. 301 actions.
3. Allows compensation to adversely affected foreign countries if sec. 301 retaliation violates GATT.

I. Establishes an Office of Unfair Trade Investigations within the Office of the USTR to prepare the annual report on foreign trade barriers and to coordinate interagency resources on sec. 301 cases. Adds requirements that the report identify certain foreign practices for possible further action.

Sec. 126. Mandatory Negotiations and Action Regarding Foreign Countries Having Excessive and Unwarranted Trade Surpluses With the United States

Adds a new sec. 301(a), Mandatory Negotiations and Actions Regarding Foreign Countries Having Excessive and Unwarranted Trade Surpluses with the United States.

A. Excessive Surplus Determination. The International Trade Commission (ITC) must make an annual determination as to whether any "major U.S. trading partner" (countries with more than $7 billion in trade with the U.S. in 1986 adjusted annually thereafter) maintains an "excessive trade surplus" (a ratio of bilateral nonpetroleum exports over nonpetroleum imports of 175 percent; a total bilateral nonpetroleum surplus with the United States in excess of $3 billion; and a global trade surplus). No ITC determinations are required if the U.S. merchandise trade deficit is less than 1.5 percent of GNP.

B. Unwarranted Surplus Determination. Within 15 days after the ITC determination, the USTR must determine whether any "excessive surplus" country maintains a pattern of unjustifiable, unreasonable or discriminatory trade policies or practices that have a significant adverse effect on United States commerce and contribute to the excessive trade surplus of that country, based upon the sec. 181 annual report, findings under sec. 301 or antidumping and countervailing duty laws, and other relevant information (including GATT findings). If the USTR finds in the affirmative, then items C, D, and E below would apply.

C. Negotiations and agreements to achieve elimination or reduction of unwarranted practices. The USTR is required to enter into negotiations with each "excessive and unwarranted" surplus country. The purpose of such negotiations is to achieve a more balances and reciprocal bilateral trading relationship througy an arrangement which: (1) substantially reduces such country's "unwarranted" policies, or (2) substantially reduces the effects of such policies on U.S. commerce.

In determining whether such an arrangement is satisfactory, the USTR shall, to the extent possible, estimate the commercial value of such country's "unwarranted policies" and shall be satisfied that the arrangement will allow U.S. firms a realistic opportunity to improve their share of bilateral trade by such an amount.

D. Action by the USTR if no satisfactory agreement is reached. If, after 6 months (with a 2-month extension for compelling reasons) the USTR is unable to conclude a satisfactory arrangement, then he shall, subject to Presidential direction, take any of the actions specified in sec.

301(b) against all unjustifiable, unreasonable or discriminatory poicies or practices found to exist (either during his initial determination of "unwarranted surplus countries" or during negotiations) in an amount equivalent to the burden or restriction caused by these policies or practices.

E. Waiver, modification, and termination authority. The USTR would be permitted to waive retaliatory action against some or all of the foreign "unwarranted policies" if: (1) in the case of unjustifiable policies or practices, he determines that retaliation would cause substantial harm to the national economic interests of the United States, and (2) in the case of other practices (unreasonable, discriminatory), the economic harm of retaliation would be greater than the harm caused by the foreign policy or practice.

The Congress would have 60 days to disapprove the USTR waiver under the sec. 151 fast-track provisions.

USTR could terminate or modify its action on the same ground provided under sec. 307, where the GATT rules against U.S. action or the foreign country eliminates its practice.

F. Further authorized action against currency manipulation. The Secretary of the Treasury would be required to determine whether any "excessive surplus country" is maintaining its currency at an artificially low level in a manner that does not reflect the country's underlying competitive strength in world markets. If he finds affirmative, Treasury must negotiate with such country to seek a more realistic alignment of its currency. If such negotiations have not achieved a satisfactory result, the President may direct the Treasury Secretary to impose an exchange rate equalization tariff to offset the effects of such misalignment.

Sec. 127. Conforming Amendments and Effective Date

Sec. 127 sets forth conforming amendments to the Trade Act of 1974 and effective dates for the amendments made under Chapter 2. Among the conforming changes is an amendment to require that the semi-annual report to the Congress required under sec. 306(3) of the Trade Act of 1974 on sec. 301 cases describe the commercial effects of sec. 301 actions, in order to provide a better understanding of the track record of national economic benefits and costs of such actions.

Sec. 128. Sense of Congress Relating to the Expeditious Disposition of 301 Cases Regarding Unfair Foreign Agricultural Export Practices

Sense-of-Congress provision that the USTR shall take all steps to conclude as soon as possible all pending sec. 301 cases involving unfair foreign agricultural export practices, including export subsidies and differential export taxes.

SUBTITLE C—RELIEF FROM INJURY CAUSED BY IMPORT COMPETITION

Chapter 1—Industry Relief from Injury Caused by Import Competition

Chapter 1 of subtitle C amends Chapter 1 of title II of the Trade Act of 1974 as amended (commonly referred to as "sec. 201," or the "escape clause"). Sec. 201 sets forth the procedures and standards for domestic industries to obtain temporary relief from increased import competition which has resulted in serious injury.

Sec. 131. Import relief

Sec. 131 makes the following amendments to sec. 201 of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended.

A. Transfers the decisionmaking authority from the President to the USTR.

B. Authorizes temporary emergency import relief for perishable products if the ITC has monitored imports of a perishable product for at least 90 days, and finds (within 21 days of a sec. 201 petition) a reasonable indication that such industry is vulnerable to serious injury from increased imports. In such a case, the USTR would grant provisional import relief (tariffs, quotas, or suspension of liquidation), unless he determined relief not to be in the national economic interest.

C. Authorizes provisional import relief (suspension of liquidation and retroactivity of any relief granted by the USTR) if the ITC makes an affirmative injury determination and also determines that critical circumstances exist. Suspension of liquidation would go into effect upon the ITC's affirmative determination; but the USTR could withdraw if the USTR decides provisional relief is not in the national economic interest.

D. Allows a petitioner to submit, at any time prior to the ITC injury determination, a statement of proposed adjustment measures. Such statement should include an assessment of problems facing the industry, recommendations on actions the domestic industry could take to enhance competitiveness or facilitate adjustment, recommendations on actions the government could take, and an explanation of how import relief will assist in achieving such objectives.

E. Provides the petitioner with an opportunity to consult with other members of the domestic industry and with the USTR and other Government officials concerning recommendations which might be appropriate to include in a statement of proposed adjustment measures.

F. Requires the ITC to make its injury determination and, where appropriate, its critical circumstances determination, within 4 months of the petition.

G. Makes certain amendments to the factors which the ITC must consider in its injury analysis, to ensure that only domestic production is included, and to include diversion and capital formation ability when considering threat of serious injury.

H. Clarifies that, in determining whether imports are a substantial cause of serious injury, the ITC shall not aggregate factors relating to recession and consider them as one single cause of injury.

I. Authorizes the ITC to consider the seasonal nature of perishable agricultural imports and the impact of such imports on domestic producers who harvest or market during that season or period of the year, both in determining injury and in recommending appropriate relief.

J. Authorizes the ITC, in appropriate circumstances, to disregard imports into geographically isolated markets for purposes of determining serious injury and appropriate remedy.

K. Provides that if the ITC makes an affirmative injury determination, workers and firms within the injured industry would be automatically certified as eligible to apply for trade adjustment assistance (TAA) benefits (whether or not the USTR ultimately provides import relief), if petitions are filed within 3 years after the injury determination.

L. Requires the ITC to make a remedy recommendation within 2 months of its injury determination. The ITC shall recommend relief that will be most effective to prevent or remedy the serious injury and facilitate long-term competitiveness or, if relief will not necessarily facilitate competitiveness, the relief that will prevent or remedy the serious injury.

M. Expands the remedy options which the ITC may consider to include negotiation of orderly marketing agreements.

N. Requires the ITC to consider proposed adjustment measures and conditions of competition in determining what remedy to recommend.

O. Requires the ITC, in its report to the USTR, to estimate the effects of the recommended relief on consumers, on other sectors of the economy, and on taxpayers, communities, and workers.

P. Requires the USTR to provide such relief as is necessary to prevent or remedy the serious injury and facilitate adjustment, unless the USTR determines (1) the provision of any relief would threaten national security, or (2) the economic costs of providing any reief are so great they outweigh the economic and social benefits of providing relief.

Q. Expands the remedy options which USTR may consider to include the international negotiations to address the underlying cause of the import problem.

R. Requires the ITC to report annually on the efforts made by the domestic industry to adjust and on conditions of competition in the industry.

S. Authorizes the ITC to recommend modifications in the form or level of relief granted, as appropriate to account for changed economic circumstances. USTR would have 21 days to approve or disapprove any modification recommended by ITC.

Chapter 2—Industry Relief from Market Disruption Caused by Imports from Nonmarket Economy Countries

Chapter 2 amends sec. 406 of the Trade Act of 1974. Sec. 406 authorizes the President to provide temporary import relief in the form of tariffs or quotas if imports from Communist countries are causing market disruption. No evidence of unfair trade practices is required, or taken into account. Market disruption exists when imports of an article, like or directly competitive with an article produced by a domestic industry, are increasing rapidly, either absoutely or relatively, so as to be a significant cause of material injury, or threat thereof, to such domestic industry.

Sec. 135. Market Disruption

Sec. 135 amends sec. 406 of the Trade Act of 1974 in the following ways:

A. Provides for application of sec. 406 to "nonmarket countries" rather than "Communist countries."

B. Replaces the requirement that imports be increasing "rapidly" with the requirement (currently in sec. 201) that imports be increasing (either absolutely or relative to domestic production).

C. Lowers the causation test from "significant cause of material injury" to "important cause of material injury."

D. In determining market disruption, requires the ITC to consider a number of factors, including the volume of imports, the effect of imports on U.S. prices, the impact of imports on U.S. producers (all factors currently used in determining material injury) as well as evidence of disruptive pricing practices, or other efforts to unfairly manage trade patterns.

E. Requires the ITC, in appropriate cases, to cumulate imports from 2 or more nonmarket economies subject to investigations.

F. Authorizes a variable tariff remedy, based on average domestic and import prices.

G. Defers the effective date of these amendments for countries with whom the United States has conflicting obligations under a bilateral agreement.

Chapter 3—Trade Adjustment Assistance

The trade adjustment assistance programs for workers and firms under Chapters 2 and 3 of title II of the Trade Act of 1974 were first established under the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 for the purpose of assisting in the special adjustment problems of workers and firms dislocated as a result of a Federal policy of reducing barriers to foreign trade. The programs were amended extensively in the Trade Act of 1974 and under the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981. The programs were reauthorized by the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 for 6 years, until Sept. 30, 1991. Chapter 3 of this bill amends the TAA programs to create greater incentives to encourage training and reemployment under the worker trade adjustment assistance program. The amendments are as follows:

Sec. 141. Trade Readjustment Allowance

Provides a worker taking a new job paying less than his previous job the option to collect up to 50 percent of his weekly trade readjustment allowance (TRA) entitlement as a supplemental wage allowance, up to 80 percent of his previous wage.

Sec. 142. Training for Workers

Requires a worker to be enrolled in training or remedial education in order to receive TRA benefits, unless his plant has not closed permanently.

Sec. 143. Cooperating State Agency Functions

Requires State administering agencies to provide full information to workers about the TAA program at the time a worker files for unemployment compensation.

Sec. 144. Supplemental Worker Training Programs

Authorizes the Secretary of Commerce to provide grants or loans, not to exceed $1 million, to support training programs administered by educational institutions and firms for workers eligible for TAA.

Sec. 145. Automatic Certification of Eligibility to Apply for Adjustment Assistance Provides for automatic certification by the Secretary of Commerce or the Secretary of Labor of a group of workers or a firm as eligible to apply for TAA under specified conditions.

Sec. 146. Adjustment Assistance Trust Fund

Establishes an Adjustment Assistance Trust Fund, consisting of revenues generated by import relief granted under sec. 201, collected in sec. 301 actions, and by auctioning of import licenses. Such revenues will be earmarked for use in trade adjustment assistance and community assistance programs.

Sec. 147. Imposition of Small Uniform Duty on All Imports

The President must seek an international agreement to permit imposition of an import fee to finance worker adjustment assistance and, if successful, impose such a fee.

Sec. 148. Effective Dates and Conforming Amendments

Sets forth effective dates and conforming amendments to the table of contents to the Trade Act of 1974.

SUBTITLE D—RELIEF FROM INJURY CAUSED BY SUBSIDIES AND DUMPING

Subtitle D makes numerous amendments to the Tariff Act of 1930 as it relates to countervailing and antidumping duties.

Sec. 151. Reference to the Tariff Act of 1930

States that, unless otherwise provided, amendments to this subtitle refer to the Tariff Act of 1930.

Sec. 152. Processed Agricultural Products

A. Clarifies that the ITC may consider growers or producers of raw agricultural products as part of the domestic industry producing a processed agricultural product if 2 conditions exist: (1) the processed product is produced from the raw agricultural product through a single continuous line of production, and (2) there is a substantial coincidence of economic interest between the growers and processors.

B. Expands the definition of "interested party" to include a coalition or trade association which is a representative both of growers and processors of a processed agricultural product.

Sec. 153. Definition of Subsidy

As a substitute for the resource input subsidy provision, clarifies that the determination as to whether a domestic subsidy is countervailable must be based on whether the actual effect of such subsidy as bestowed aids a specific industry, or groups of industries, rather than on a mere examination of the legal nature of the subsidy program. Also provides for the use of external benchmarks, under appropriate circumstances, in determining the existence of, and in measuring the amount of, subsidy.

Sec. 154. Definition of Material Injury and Threat of Material Injury

A clarifies that the ITC is required, in its material injury analysis, to consider each of the specified factors in every case, and to explain its analysis of each factor so considered. Also clarifies that, in examining the impact of imports on domestic producers, no single factor should be dispositive.

B. Amends the definition of "domestic industry" to include only domestic operations of U.S. producers for purposes of determining injury.

C. Requires the ITC, in determining material injury and, to the extent practicable, threat of material injury, to cumulate the impact of imports from 2 or more countries, if such imports were subject either to countervailing duty or antidumping investigations within the last 12 months, unless such imports are negligible in volume and effects.

D. Authorizes the ITC to disregard, in appropriate circumstances, imports into geographically isolated markets for purposes of determining material injury and appropriate remedy.

E. Provides for additional factors for the ITC to consider in determining whether there is a threat of material injury by reason of dumped or subsidized imports: (a) diversion of exports to the U.S. market; (b) repeated dumping in world markets, as evidenced by antidumping findings in other GATT countries; and (c) likelihood of product-shifting in cases involving imports both of raw and processed agricultural products.

Sec. 155. Prevention of Circumvention of Antidumping and Countervailing Duty Orders

Amends procedures under the antidumping and countervailing duty laws to prevent circumvention of final orders through assembly or finishing operations or minor alterations of merchandise entered. Clarifies that "minor alterations" includes minor processing, even if such processing results in a different TSUS number.

Sec. 156. Diversionary Input Dumping

Amends the antidumping law to provide for consideration of diversionary input dumping—the purchase by a foreign manufacturer of a major material or component which has previously been found by the Commerce Department to have been sold at less than fair value in the United States. The provision would only apply if imports of the major material or component into the United States have declined while imports of the manufactured product currently under investigation have increased. If diversionary input dumping is occurring, then Commerce shall use constructed value as the basis for determining the foreign market value of the manufactured imports, and shall make adjustments to reflect the benefit bestowed to the manufacturer as a result of the purchase of the material or component at less than fair value.

Sec. 157. Application of Countervailing Duty Laws to Nonmarket Economy Countries

Amends the countervailing duty law to provide for its application to nonmarket economy countries to the extent that a subsidy can be identified and measured.

Sec. 158. Access to Information

Amends procedures for disclosure of confidential information under administrative protective order.

Sec. 159. Drawback Treatment

Prohibits antidumping and countervailing duties paid on imported merchandise from being eligible for refund under drawback provisions.

Sec. 160. Application of Countervailing and Antidumping Duties to Governmental Importations

Prohibits any U.S. Government purchases of dumped or subsidized merchandise from being exempt from antidumping or countervailing duties.

Sec. 161. Certification of Submissions in Countervailing and Antidumping Proceedings

Requires submissions from parties involved in an antidumping or countervailing duty proceeding to be certified as to their accuracy.

Sec. 162. Explanation of Significant Deviations From Administrative Precedent; and

Sec. 163. Correction of Ministerial Errors

Requires the Department of Commerce to explain decisions which deviate from prior precedents and to correct clerical errors within a limited time period.

Sec. 164. Downstream Monitoring

Provides new procedures to monitor imports of downstream products to assist in identifying the diversionary impact of significant antidumping and countervailing duties on major materials or parts. Commerce would determine which downstream products are appropriate to be monitored, and the ITC would monitor levels of trade in these products and provide quarterly reports.

Sec. 165. Multiple Offenders

Adds a new provision on multiple dumping offenses which: (1) provides new procedures for monitoring imports in a particular product category from a particular foreign manufacturer whose products have been subject to dumping findings; and (2) provides for self-initiation of expedited antidumping investigations when such monitoring indicates that further dumping may be occurring.

Sec. 166. Civil Actions for Recovery of Damages

Sec. 166: (a) repeals the criminal penalties under the Antidumping Act of 1916; (b) establishes a rebuttable presumption with respect to multiple offenders of "intent to injure or destroy" a domestic industry; and (c) clarifies that the term "actual market value" has the same meaning as "foreign market value" under title VII of the Tariff Act of 1930.

Sec. 167. Compensation Program

Sets aside dumping duties for compensation of private parties injured by dumping.

Sec. 168. Injury Test for Certain Merchandise Subject to a Countervailing Duty Under Sec. 303

Requires an ITC material injury investigation on any outstanding countervailing duty order or pending investigation on duty-free merchandise upon Commerce's notification that an injury investigation is required by U.S. international obligations, as determined by the USTR.

Sec. 169. Studies

A. Requires the Commerce Department to study and report to Congress within 1 year on market-oriented reforms being undertaken by the People's Republic of China and on their implications for application of the U.S. antidumping law to imports from China.

B. Requires the USTR to review Subsidies Code commitments undertaken by various countries with the United States and report within 6 months on whether commitments have been met and how to improve compliance or implementation of such commitments.

SUBTITLE E—INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

This subtitle sets forth congressional findings and purposes; amends sec. 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930; and creates a mechanism for establishing adequate and effective protection of U.S. intellectual property rights in foreign countries.

Sec. 171. Congressional Findings and Purposes

Sets forth a number of findings and purposes with regard to U.S. intellectual property rights.

Sec. 172. Protection Under the Tariff Act of 1930

Sec. 172 amends sec. 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, which provides for relief against unfair methods of competition and unfair acts in the importation of articles into the United States or in their sale, if the effect or tendency of such actions is to destroy or substantially injure an efficiently and economically operated industry in the United States. Sec. 172 makes the following changes to sec. 337:

A. Eliminates the injury requirement in certain intellectual property rights cases. (The domestic industry requirement is retained with an expanded definition.)

B. Shortens time period for issuance of temporary exclusion orders to 90 days after initiation (extension of 60 days permitted for more complicated cases).

C. Clarifies that cease and desist orders may be issued "in addition to or in lieu of" exclusion orders and increases the penalty for violations of such orders to "$10,000 or twice the domestic value of the articles."

D. Provides for the ITC to use default procedures against persons who have been served with notice of proceedings and fail to appear to answer complaint in cases where complainant seeks relief limited to that person.

E. In cases where a party previously found to be in violation petitions the ITC, the burden of proof that he is no longer in violation is on the petitioner and relief may be granted only on the basis of new evidence or on other grounds permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

F. Provides procedures for treating confidential information submitted in sec. 337 cases.

G. Explictly authorizes the ITC to issue consent orders as the basis of settlement agreements.

H. Allows the ITC to prescribe sanctions for abuse of discovery and abuse of process.

I. Transfers to the USTR (from the President) authority to review and disapprove ITC determinations and proposed actions.

Sec. 173. Action Against Countries That Deny Adequate and Effective Protection of Intellectual Property Rights

Creates a mechanism to improve international intellectual property rights protection through identification by the USTR of priority foreign countries and self-initiation of sec. 301 investigations. Sec. 301 procedures apply generally in such investigations, except that a recommendation by the USTR to the President for possible action is required within 6 months of initiation, with a possible 6-month extension in certain circumstances.

SUBTITLE F—ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS OF TRADE AGENCIES

Chapter 1—Office of the United States Trade Representative

Sec. 181. Functions

A. Strengthens the role of the U.S. Trade Representative. Specifies that the USTR has primary responsibility for developing and coordinating implementation of international trade policy, international trade negotiations, and trade policy guidance, and is principal trade spokesman; the USTR must consult and be advised by the interagency trade organization.

B. Expresses the sense of Congress that the USTR should be the senior representative on any body the President establishes dealing predominantly with international trade matters and should be a participant in all meetings where international trade is a major topic.

C. Specifies the agency membership of the statutory inter-agency trade organization (chaired by the USTR) to assist the President and to advise the USTR; expands the organization's responsibilities to specifically include development and implementation of U.S. trade policy objectives.

Sec. 182. Functions of the U.S. Trade Representative in Administering GSP

Sec. 182 transfers all authorities, determinations, and other functions under the GSP program from the President to the U.S. Trade Representative.

Chapter 2—United States International Trade Commssion

Sec. 185. Annual Report on Competitive Conditions Affecting the National Economy; Import Monitoring

Requires the ITC to submit to Congress and to the USTR, on an annual basis, studies on key sectors of the U.S. economy, focusing on global competitiveness, application of U.S. trade laws and policies, and implications for U.S. national economic security. Such reports would be taken into account by the USTR in developing its trade policy agenda. Also establishes an ITC trade impact monitoring system.

Sec. 186. Trade Remedy Assistance Office

Improves and broadens the scope of the Trade Remedy Assistance Office by assuring its independence in the ITC and expanding its functions to include technical and legal assistance and advice to small business and other eligible petitioners in preparing petitions and obtaining trade law remedies.

Sec. 187. Treatment of Confidential Information by Commission

Allows the ITC not to release confidential business information to the President or the Congress in sec. 332 investigations without the consent of the affected party.

Sec. 188. Treatment of Commission Under Paperwork Reduction Act

Designates the ITC as an "independent regulatory agency" for purposes of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980.

SUBTITLE G—MISCELLANEOUS TRADE LAW PROVISIONS

Sec. 191. Imports Affecting National Security

Imposes a 9-month time limit for national security investigations by the Secretary of Commerce. Imposes a 90-day time limit for the President to decide whether to restrict imports that threaten the national security; he must proclaim action within 15 days. Provides explicit authority for the President to enforce bilateral agreements negotiated on machine tools pursuant to the President's decision of May 1986.

Sec. 192. Generalized System of Preferences

Provides for reallocation of GSP benefits to certain debtor countries by waiving product "competitive need" ceilings under existing authority if certain circumstances exist, including good faith efforts by the country to meet its debt obligations.

Sec. 193. Treatment of Eligible Articles Under the Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act

Authorizes the President to withdraw, suspend, or limit duty-free treatment on particular articles under the Caribbean Basin Initiative in lieu of removing country beneficiary status.

Sec. 194. Extension of International Coffee Agreement Act of 1980

Extends the effective period of the International Coffee Agreement Act of 1980 until Oct. 1, 1989.

Sec. 195 Steel Imports

Provides specific enforcement authority to prevent circumvention of negotiated quantitative restraints on steel imports.

Sec. 196. Coal Exports to Japan

Expresses the sense of the Congress that the objectives of the 1983 Joint Policy Statement on Energy Cooperation as it relates to U.S. exports of coal, including metallurgical coal, to Japan have not been achieved and calls on the President to take certain actions to increase U.S. coal exports to Japan.

Sec. 197. Use of U.S. Vessels to Transport Imported Automobiles

Requires the President to negotiate trade agreements with each foreign country from which the United States imports 50,000 or more automobiles in order to eliminate unfair, restrictive, or discriminatory practices in the maritime transportation of such automobiles. Also requires a semiannual report on the progress of negotiations.

Sec. 198. Purchase of United States-Made Automotive Parts by Japan

Expresses the sense of the Congress that the Congress strongly supports current negotiations to increase opportunities for U.S. automobile parts producers to supply parts for Japanese automobiles; determines that the success of such negotiations will be measured in part by a significant increase in U.S. sales; and directs the administration to report to Congress on the negotiations and on any agreements reached.

TITLE II—INTERNATIONAL TRADE IN TELECOMMUNICATIONS PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

Secs. 201 through 211 provide specific authority and remedies to address the lack of foreign market openness in telecommunications trade.

A. Requires USTR investigation of foreign trade barriers to telecommunications exports and determination within 6 months as to whether the barriers deny fully competitive foreign market opportunities to U.S. firms. Petitions by interested parties and self-initiation also may prompt an investigation and final determination. The USTR can exclude countries if their market is not substantial. Requires reports to Congress.

B. Requires the President to negotiate with countries identified under subparagraph 1 and lays out objectives of negotiations. If agreement is not reached, the President is required to take certain countermeasures within a time certain (from 18 months to 3½ years, depending upon subsequent Presidential decisions and congressional action) in order to achieve the objectives. He is given a broad selection of options for such action.

C. On the basis of annual reviews, if the USTR determines a country is not in compliance with its telecommunications agreement, or otherwise denies fully competitive market opportunities under the agreement, the USTR is required to take action to offset the violation and restore the balance of concessions.

D. Provides 3½-year negotiation authority, "fast-track" Congressional implementation, and compensation authority in the event that retaliatory actions taken by the President or the USTR are GATT-illegal. Defines telecommunications product, and specifies that nothing in the act shall be construed to require action inconsistent with U.S. international obligations.

TITLE VIII—TARIFF AND CUSTOMS PROVISIONS

Includes 75 miscellaneous trade and tariff issues covering duty suspensions, duty-free measures, classification changes, and customs-related nontariff matters.

Sec. 800 applies to all other sections of this title. It states that whenever an amendment or repeal is expressed in terms of an amendment to, or repeal of, a schedule, item, headnote, or other provision, the reference shall be considered to be made to a schedule, item, headnote, or other provision of the Tariff Schedules of the United States (19 U.S.C. 1202).

SUBTITLE D—IMPLEMENTATION OF NAIROBI PROTOCOL

Subtitle D contains provisions implementing the Nairobi Protocol to the Florence Agreement on the Importation of Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials.

HOUSE FLOOR AMENDMENTS

Principal negotiating objective regarding reciprocal treatment is to obtain agreement that MFN treatment and other multilateral trade benefits be extended only to countries that permit reciprocal market access opportunities.

Directing USTR to report to the Congress on ways to improve enforcement of restrictions on imports from Cuba.

Requiring the President to take action to reduce the trade surplus with a country by 10 percent per year if that country has not substantially reduced its pattern of unfair trade practices after 1 year.

Striking provision which requires all meat or meat products sold in the United States be labeled as to country of origin.

Expressing the sense of the Congress that the President should communicate to the Soviet Union United States opposition to Soviet slave labor policy and requests the President to enforce existing law provisions that ban the importation of any product made in whole or in part by slave labor.

Changes the effective date of the provision placing lace gloves made with some plastic or rubber under the same tariff as textile gloves from 15 days after enactment to 60 days after enactment.

Suspends most-favored-nation status with Romania.

Requires a competitiveness impact statement in the annual Presidential budget and in the reports accompanying the annual House and Senate budget resolutions to provide an analysis of the budget's impact on the international competitiveness of United States business and the United States balance of payments.

H.R. 278 (Mr. Young of Alaska with cosponsors); Public Law 100–241; app. Feb. 3, 1988.

H.R. 278, the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act Amendments of 1987, was referred to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. As reported to the House on Mar. 27, 1987, the bill contained several provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means, including provisions regarding the collection of taxes and valuation of stock. On Mar. 31, 1987, H.R. 278 passed the House. The Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources reported the bill to the Senate on Oct. 20, 1987, and it passed the Senate amended, on Oct. 29, 1987. The House agreed to the Senate amendments on Dec. 21, 1987, with an amendment. The Senate agreed to the House amendment on the same date. The bill language was modified to insure that the legislation would not depart from normal and traditional Federal tax principles.

The President signed H.R. 278 into law on Feb. 3, 1988, as Public Law 100–241.

H.R. 1154 (Mr. Derrick with cosponsors); passed House Sept. 16, 1987.

H.R. 1154, the Textile and Apparel Trade Act of 1987, was amended by the Committee on Ways and Means and reported without recommendation to the House on Aug. 6, 1987.

As passed the House on Sept. 16, 1987, the bill would remedy injury to the U.S. textile and apparel and nonrubber footwear industries caused by increased imports. Specifically, the bill provides for global import quotas on a product-specific basis, in order to ensure orderly trade in textiles and footwear, and to preserve U.S. jobs in these areas.

H.R. 1444 (Mr. Gradison with cosponsors); Public Law 100–93; app. Aug. 18, 1987.

H.R. 1444, the Medicare and Medicaid Patient and Program Protection Act of 1987, was reported to the House on May 21, 1987, and passed the House on June 2.

As passed, the bill has four main elements, the first of which relates to exclusion of participating providers. The bill mandates the exclusion from Medicare and Medicaid of individuals convicted of program-related crimes or patient abuse or neglect. It also broadens the grounds for the discretionary exclusion of health care providers from Medicare and Medicaid. In addition, the bill extends the mandatory and discretionary exclusion remedies to two other State health care programs, the Maternal and Child Health Services Block Grant, and the Title XX Social Services Block Grant. The U.S. Attorney General is authorized to deny, revoke, or suspend the controlled substances registration of any individual or entity subject to mandatory exclusion from Medicare.

Second, the bill revises the current civil money penalty authorities. It clarifies the Secretary's authority to consolidate exclusion and civil money penalty determinations involving the same provider into a single administrative proceeding, and it broadens the Secretary's authority to seek injunctive relief to protect assets for the payment of civil money penalties imposed. The bill also adds, as grounds for imposing civil money penalties, the submission of claims for payment for physician services by individuals who are not licensed as physicians, who obtained their licenses through misrepresentation, or who misrepresent to the patient that they are board-certified in a medical specialty.

Third, the bill provides for criminal penalties for the submission of claims for physician services by individuals who are not licensed as physicians or who obtained their licenses through misrepresentation or cheating on a licensing exam. The bill also directs the Secretary, in consultation with the U.S. Attorney General, to clarify by regulation what payment practices are not to be treated as criminal offenses for purposes of the current law prohibitions against bribes and kickbacks.

Finally, the bill requires States, as a condition of receiving Federal Medicaid matching funds, to provide information to the Secretary regarding actions taken against health care practitioners by State licensing authorities. The bill also authorizes the Secretary to provide such information to other State licensing authorities and program agencies in order to protect the health and safety of beneficiaries and the fiscal integrity of the programs.

H.R. 1444 passed the Senate with an amendment in the nature of a substitute (S. 661), on July 23, 1987. The only substantive difference between the two bills is a provision in S. 661 that requires an administrative hearing prior to exclusion—as opposed to the usual post-exclusion hearing—when the grounds for exclusion are based on the practitioner having engaged in certain activities that also are violations subject to criminal or civil penalties, but for which the practitioner has not yet been convicted. On July 30, 1987, the House agreed to the Senate amendment.

On Aug. 18, 1987, the President signed the bill into law as Public Law 100-93.

H.R. 1451 (Mr. Kildee with cosponsors); Public Law 100–175; app. Nov. 29, 1987.

H.R. 1451, the Older Americans Act Amendments of 1987, was reported to the House on May 18, 1987, by the Education and Labor Committee. The bill passed the House on May 28, 1987. H.R. 1451 was reported to the Senate on July 30, 1987 and passed the Senate on Aug. 6, 1987. On Sept. 30, 1987, the House disagreed to the Senate amendments and requested a conference. The Senate agreed on that same date. The conference report was filed on Nov. 9, 1987. The Senate agreed to the conference report on Nov. 12, 1987, and the House agreed on Nov. 17, 1987.

There were two provisions in the bill as it became law which were under the jurisdiction of the Ways and Means Committee: (1) a study by the Secretary of HHS to determine the impact of the medicare DRG system on community-based programs such as the Older Americans Act, and (2) to authorize a one-time outreach effort to SSI, medicaid and food stamp recipients to ensure more low-income elderly receive benefits to which they are entitled.

The President signed H.R. 1451 into law on Nov. 29, 1987, as Public Law 100–175.

H.R. 1622 (Mr. de la Garza); reported to House Dec. 4, 1987.

H.R. 1622, the Cotton Research and Promotion Program Act of 1987, was referred solely to the Committee on Agriculture. The bill contained several provisions under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. On Oct. 5, 1987, the Committee on Agriculture reported the bill to the House. The bill was then sequentially referred to the Committee on Ways and Means until Dec. 4, 1987. The Ways and Means Committee reported the bill to the House on Dec. 4, 1987.

As amended by the committee and reported, the bill would require the Secretary of Agriculture to conduct a referendum within 8 months to determine whether the current upland cotton research and promotion order should be amended to provide (1) for an appropriate number of importers to serve on the Cotton Board, and (2) for assessments to apply to imported upland cotton.

Both cotton importers and cotton producers who have been engaged in the production or importation of upland cotton during a representative period, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, would be eligible to vote. Approval of the referendum would require either two-thirds of those voting in the referendum, or a majority of those voting if such majority accounts for not less than two-thirds of the cotton produced and imported during the representative period.

If the referendum is approved, the changes would automatically take effect. Both handlers of domestic upland cotton and importers of upland cotton would then be required to pay an assessment to the Cotton Board. As under current law, participation in the program would remain voluntary, and producers and importers who do not support the problem would be entitled to a refund of any assessments paid by them.

The amended bill also authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture and the Commissioner of Customs to enter into an agreement under which Customs would collect and transmit to the Cotton Board the assessments on imports, with costs or collection to be reimbursed by the Cotton Board.

H.R. 1720 (Mr. Ford of Tennessee with cosponsors); passed House Dec. 16, 1987.

H.R. 1720, the Family Welfare Reform Act of 1987, was reported to the House by the Committee on Ways and Means on June 17, 1987. The bill passed the House amended, on Dec. 16, 1987. A summary of the bill as passed the House follows.

H.R. 1720 would replace the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program with a new Family Support program which encourages the family to be its own source of support through work, payment of child support, and when necessary, need-based family support supplements.

NATIONAL EDUCATION, TRAINING, AND WORK (NETWORK) PROGRAM

1. State Plan Requirement

As a condition for receiving Title IV-A funds, States would be required to establish a National Education, Training, and Work (NETWork) program.

2. Establishment and State Operation

State IV-A agencies would be required to submit a plan, subject to the approval of the Secretary (in consultation with the Secretary of Labor), which would make the program available in each political subdivision of the State where it is feasible. Involvement of the private sector and local governments through administrative entities authorized under sec. 4(2) of the Job Training Partnership Act would be required in planning and program design to assure that participants are trained for jobs that will actually be available in the community. Federal funds available under NETWork would augment existing services and could not replace State or local funds.

3. Participation Requirements

All adult recipients who are not working full-time would be informed of the education, training, and work activities offered under the program. Nonexempt recipients would be required to participate as resources permit.

4. Coordination with Existing Recipient Activities

If an adult caretaker or dependent child is already attending, in good standing, a school, an accredited postsecondary institution, or a course of vocational and technical training consistent with the individual's employment goals, such attendance would be regarded as satisfactory participation in the NETWork program. Other work and training activities could not interfere with the educational program. The costs of such school or training would not be paid by the NETWork program. However, support services would be provided as long as the activities are enumerated in the family support plan.

5. Target Populations

Although States would be permitted to require participation by any nonexempt recipient, States would be required to first extend the opportunity to participate to certain target populations including: (a) families with teenage parents, and families with parents who were under age 18 when their first child was born; (b) families who have been receiving benefits continuously for 2 or more years; (c) families with a parent who lacks a high school diploma or its equivalent; and (d) families in which the youngest child is within 2 years of being ineligible for AFDC/FSP because of age.

6. Service Priorities

State programs would be required to serve volunteers in at least 2 of the 4 targeted groups first, followed by mandatory participants in at least 2 of the 4 targeted groups. The remaining voluntary participants would be the third priority for service followed by the remaining mandatory participants. Among the mandatory participants, first priority would be given to those who actively seek to participate. These priorities would not apply to States that certify that they will serve all mandatory participants and volunteers within 3 years after the effective date of NETWork in the State.

7. Exemptions

Certain individuals would be exempt from participation. These include: a person who is ill, incapacitated or age 60 or more; a person needed in the home because of the illness or incapacity of another family member; a child under the age of 16; a person working at least 20 hours per week; a pregnant woman; and a person who resides in an area of the State where the NETWork program is not offered.

In addition, the parent or other relative of a child under the age of 3 would be exempt. Participation by parents of children under 6 would be part-time. Parents of children under the age of 3, but over the age of 1 could be required to participate with the approval of the Secretary of Health and Human Services if the State demonstrates that appropriate infant care can be guaranteed within the dollar limitations of the Act and participation emphasizes, as a first priority, education and training (including parenting and nutrition education).

8. Orientation

States would be required to provide eligible applicants and recipients of Title IV-A benefits with orientation to NETWork, including a description of day care services that will be available during NETWork participation as well as information about the transitional day care and Medicaid services that will be offered.

9. Assessment Activities

An assessment would be made of the educational needs, skills, and employability of any person who will participate in the NETWork program. On the basis of the assessment, a family support plan would be developed by the State agency and the recipient. The family support plan would detail the length of participation and the activities to be undertaken by family members and the State agency and would become the basis for an agency-client agreement to be signed by the State and the recipient.

10. Agency-Client Agreement and Case Management

The State agency and the client would be required to negotiate an agreement detailing all of the responsibilities of both parties under the NETWork program. Each participant would have up to 10 days to review the proposed agreement, to request additional information, and to renegotiate any appropriate provision. Notice of the opportunity for a fair hearing would be required to be given to the participant by the State agency in the event of a dispute involving the signing of the agreement or the nature or extent of participation. States would be required to provide case management services to each NETWork participant, including monitoring and reviewing client progress and renegotiations if necessary. Agreements between States and clients would not create a cause of action against the Federal Government if the terms are not observed by any party.

11. Sanctions

Mandatory participants who fail to cooperate during the course of the program would be sanctioned. In the case of a single-parent family, the noncooperating individual would be removed from the grant. In the case of a two-parent family, one or both parents could be removed from the grant for failure to cooperate. Regardless of family composition, benefits to the children would continue.

12. Range of Activities

Participants without a high school diploma would be required to participate in an education program. In addition, each State would be required to offer: remedial education, English as a second language instruction, and specialized advanced education as appropriate; group and individual job search; skills training; job readiness activities; as well as counseling and information and referral for those experiencing personal and family problems which prevent work. In addition, States would be required to offer at least one of the following: on-the-job training; work supplementation; a community work experience program; or other education and training activities.

13. Activities for Children

States would be required to provide additional services to AFDC children in families not otherwise participating in NETWork. Such services would be designed to help them stay in school and complete a high school education as well as to obtain a marketable job skill. In addition, States would be required to coordinate NETWork with early childhood education programs in the State.

14. Work Supplementation Program

States would be able to establish work supplementation programs in which the AFDC benefit is used to subsidize a job. Along with certain technical and conforming amendments, States would be required to extend Medicaid for work supplementation participants.

15. Community Work Experience Program (CWEP)

The current authority for "workfare" programs would be modified to limit the length of participation to 6 months, require that CWEP be combined with training, prohibit reassignment to CWEP and prohibit recipients from being required to work off any child support collected by the State on their behalf. In addition, States would be permitted to operate a 3-month work experience program in which the hours of participation in training and work could not exceed 30 hours per month.

16. Placement Service

Each State program would include jobs development and job placement services necessary to assist participants in securing and retaining employment.

17. Wage Rates, Working Conditions and Displacement Prohibitions

The Secretary of Labor would implement and carry out these provisions. Wage rates for jobs to which participants are assigned would be not less than: (1) the minimum wage under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938; (2) the minimum wage under applicable provisions of the State or local minimum wage law; or (3) the rates of pay for individuals employed in the same or similar occupations by the same employer.

Further, participants could not be assigned to employers who have terminated employment or laid off employees with the intention of filling the vacancies with NETWork participants. NETWork participants could not be assigned to jobs that infringe on promotional opportunities of current employees and CWEP participants could not fill established unfilled vacancies. Discrimination on the basis of race, sex, national origin, religion, age, or handicapping condition would be prohibited.

18. Regulations

The Secretary would be required to publish proposed regulations within 6 months after the date of enactment and final regulations within 9 months after the date of enactment. The Secretary would be required also to consult with the States in developing the regulations.

19. Performance Standards

The Secretary of Health and Human Services would contract with the National Academy of Sciences to develop performance standards for the program. Preliminary standards would be required within 1 year of the date of enactment to be followed by final regulations 1-year later.

20. Program Administration and Financing

The NETWork program would be operated by the State welfare agency and would be authorized under Title IV-A and Title IV-C of the Social Security Act. In carrying out the purposes of the program, States could contract with public or private agencies and organizations to provide any of the required services. Federal reimbursement would be provided in 2 tiers. For amounts up to the WIN allotment in fiscal year 1987, the Federal reimbursement would be 90 percent. Federal reimbursement of NETWork program costs exceeding the amount allotted to the State for the WIN Program in fiscal year 1987 would equal 65 percent; the State share would equal 35 percent. The Federal match could be altered in future years based on performance. In addition, the Federal Government would pay 50 percent of the costs of basic AFDC and NETWork administration.

21. Coordination

Program activities under NETWork would be coordinated by the States with programs operated under the Job Training Partnership Act, existing early childhood education programs, including Head Start, preschool programs funded under Chapter 1 of the Education Consolidation and Improvement Act of 1981 and school and nonprofit child care programs, and any other relevant employment, education or training programs available in the State. In addition, the State's NETWork plan would be submitted to the State Job Training Coordinating Council for review and comment 90 days before submission to the Department of Health and Human Services. If the Council's recommendations differ from the State plan, the Council may appeal to the Governor, who would make the final decision. The employment and training activities in each State would be carried out by the State agency or through other arrangements with administrative entities authorized under sec. 4(2) of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). Services of private industry councils under JTPA would be used.

22. Evaluation, Research, and Technical Assistance

The Secretary would be required to evaluate activities under NETWork. Research would be required to examine: the effectiveness of giving priority to volunteers; appropriate strategies for assisting two-parent families; the wage rates of individuals placed in jobs; the approaches that are most effective in meeting the needs of specific groups and types of participants; and the effect of targeting on families that include children below the age of 6. Also, the Secretary would be required to provide technical assistance to States, localities, schools, and employers who participate in the program and who need such assistance.

23. Reporting Requirements

The Secretary would be required to establish uniform reporting requirements. At a minimum, this must include: average monthly number of families assisted, types of families, amounts spent per family, and length of participation. This information would be required to be reported for each of the services provided under NETWork.

24. Demonstration Projects

Five types of demonstration projects would be authorized: (1) demonstration projects targeted at title IV-A children would test financial incentives, and interdisciplinary approaches to reducing school dropouts, encouraging skill development, and avoiding welfare dependence; (2) 5 State demonstration projects would encourage States to employ AFDC/FSP mothers as paid day care providers; (3) 5 State/local demonstration projects would test the elimination of the "100-hour rule"; (4) 10 State demonstration projects would test volunteer-based early childhood development programs; and (5) demonstrations would test supported work programs and effective methods of coordinating services through community-based organizations.

25. Transition from WIN to NETWork

Funding for the WIN program (such sums as are necessary) would be authorized to be appropriated for fiscal years 1988 and 1989. The NETWork program would take effect no later than fiscal year 1990.

26. Transitional Employment

For individuals who have completed participation in NETWork program activities and who are still unable to obtain regular employment, States would be authorized to offer short-term subsidized employment, or "transitional employment" in the public or private nonprofit sectors for up to 6 months. Additional months might be provided upon review and modification of the family support plan. In addition, an individual would be eligible only if he or she had participated in NETWork activities, including job search, for at least 6 months and had been unable to obtain an unsubsidized job. There would be authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this program.

27. Training Child Care Personnel and Improving Child Care Supply

A total of $150 million per year would be authorized for two purposes: (1) grants for training child care personnel in such areas as child growth and development, communication with families, health and safety, instruction, and administration and management; and (2) grants to local nonprofit child care programs to establish or renovate child care centers and family day care homes that meet standards set forth under title IV of the Social Security Act.

28. Effective Date

The NETWork program would take effect on Oct. 1, 1989. States could elect to participate in NETWork at any time after proposed regulations have been issued.

DAY CARE, TRANSPORTATION AND WORK-RELATED EXPENSES

1. Day Care Expenses of AFDC/FSP Recipients

Reimbursement of day care expenses would be authorized under Title IV-A of the Social Security Act and would be available to recipients in school, training or work. States would be given flexibility to determine the delivery mechanism and could provide day care services by contract, certificate or disregard of actual expenses. States electing the disregard approach would be required to deduct care last after other disregards have been applied. Whenever possible, day care services would be available prospectively to recipients who are about to begin work, training or school.

2. NETWork Participant Expenses

States would be required to pay up to $100 per month for transportation and other work-related expenses of NETWork participants. If the participant must travel 100 miles or more to the NETWork assignment, reimbursement could be as much as $200 per month.

3. Day Care Transition

Under Title IV-A of the Social Security Act, a new day care transition subsidy would be created. This subsidy would be available to working families who leave AFDC/FSP because of earnings. The subsidy would be based on need, according to a sliding scale that considers the family's ability to pay. States would be required to provide at least 12 months of day care support; they would be permitted to offer more than 12 months. In no event, however, could a family with an income in excess of 150 percent of poverty receive a subsidy.

4. Financing

Federal reimbursement of the day care costs for AFDC/FSP recipients and for transition day care subsidies would be limited to actual costs up to $175 per month per child age 2 and older and $200 per month per child under the age of 2. The Federal share would be determined using the AFDC/FSP benefit matching formula. States could supplement these amounts with State dollars.

5. Minimum Health and Safety

Funds expended for child care services to individuals caring for more than 2 children at one time would be required to meet standards set by the State which, at a minimum, ensure basic protections for health and safety. In addition, day care provided must meet applicable standards of State and local law.

6. Limitations on Treatment of Day Care Expenses

The value of any day care provided or reimbursed would not be treated as income for any Federal needs-based program and could not be claimed as an employment-related expense for purposes of the dependent care credit.

7. Evaluation of Child Care Resources

States would be required to assess regularly the availability and reliability of child care services and to develop new child care resources as needed. States also would be required to coordinate with other child care resources in the State.

8. Demonstration Projects to Test Use of the Food Stamp Licensed Vehicle Rules

A 5-State, 5-year test of applying the Food Stamp program licensed vehicle value limits would be authorized. At least one rural and one urban State must be selected.

9. Effective Date

The day care policy would take effect on Oct. 1, 1987.

REWARDS FOR WORK

1. Work Incentives

To further encourage work, the current earned income disregards would be replaced. For recipients, the first $100 of earnings plus 25 percent of remaining earnings would be disregarded. The disregards would not be time-limited and the $100 deduction would be adjusted for inflation annually. The current State option to disregard Job Training Partnership Act income would be retained and would apply to minor parents as well as dependent children.

2. Treatment of Earned Income Tax Credit

The earned income tax credit would be disregarded for AFDC/FSP purposes.

3. Effective Date

The above provisions would take effect on Oct. 1, 1988.

CHILD SUPPORT IMPROVEMENTS

1. Uniform Guidelines

States would be required to use uniform guidelines as a rebuttable presumption in setting child support awards. The guidelines would have to be reviewed every 3 years and modified to reflect changes in the cost of living. States also would be required to provide for the periodic review of child support award amounts to assure that the order remains in full compliance with the guidelines. Updating would have to occur at least every 2 years. Notice would be given to both parents.

2. Paternity Establishment

In fiscal year 1989, States would be required to establish 50 percent more paternities under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act than were established in fiscal year 1986. In each subsequent year, paternity establishments are to increase by 15 percent. States would be required to use blood tests and a 95 percent probability index from blood tests as a rebuttable presumption of paternity and would be encouraged to establish a simple voluntary civil procedure for admitting paternity and a civil procedure for establishing paternity in contested cases.

States would be permitted, for purposes of computing the cost effectiveness ratios, to impute $100 per month for 12 months in all cases in which they have established paternity. The bill also clarifies the authority to establish paternity until a child reaches 18 years of age, which was included in the Child Support Enforcement Amendments of 1984.

3. Visitation Demonstrations

Demonstration projects would be authorized to determine the magnitude of the visitation and custody problem and to test solutions. Demonstration projects could not allow the child support payment to be withheld pending visitation.

4. Performance Standards

The Department of Health and Human Services would be required to establish limits governing how much time may elapse between application and the onset of legal action with respect to requests to establish paternity, locate a missing parent, establish an order, or enforce an order. Also, the Department would be required to collect data on the number of requests for the various child support enforcement services.

5. Automatic Tracking and Monitoring

By Oct. 1, 1992, States would be required to have an operational automated data processing system. The 90 percent Federal match for these purposes would be eliminated on that date.

6. Automatic Wage Withholding and Compliance with the 1984 Amendments

Six months after the date of enactment, the Federal child support matching rate would be reduced to 66 percent for States that are not in compliance with the Child Support Enforcement Amendments of 1984. This penalty is in addition to penalties in current law.

By Oct. 1, 1988, States also would be required to implement automatic wage withholding on all orders issued or modified in the State. Two exceptions would be permitted. First, the requirement would not apply if either party demonstrates, and a court finds, that there is good cause to not require immediate wage withholding. Second, the requirement would not apply if a written agreement is reached between both parties which provides for an alternative arrangement.

7. Child Support Disregard Clarification

Clarifies that States are required to pay to the family $50 of child support payments whenever the absent parent makes a timely payment. This policy applies to all families applying for or receiving AFDC/FSP.

8. Treatment of Interstate Funds

The costs of interstate enforcement demonstrations would not be included in computing State incentive payments.

9. Work and Training Demonstration Projects

Demonstration projects would be authorized to test whether noncustodial parents who cannot pay child support can be encouraged to participate in work, education and training programs.

10. Interstate Commission and Study of the Costs of Raising Children

An interstate commission would be established to examine the problems of interstate child support establishment and enforcement and to develop a new model interstate law. In addition, a study would be conducted on the costs of raising children including the patterns of expenditures on children in 2-parent families, in single-parent families following divorce and in single-parent families in which parents were never married.

11. Access to INTERNET System

The Federal Parent Locator Service (FPLS) and the State child support agencies would be given access to the INTERNET system funded by the Department of Labor. The system contains information on place of employment, social security number, and addresses of employees that is currently used in the unemployment compensation system.

12. Effective Date

In general, the provisions of this title would be effective on Oct. 1, 1988.

PRO FAMILY WELFARE POLICIES

1. AFDC-UP

Beginning on Jan. 1, 1990, all States would be required to implement the AFDC-Unemployed Parent program. Under this program, 2-parent families in which the principal earner is unemployed may qualify for AFDC/FSP benefits.

2. Special Provisions for Minor Parents

States would be required to provide case management services for minor parent families. Minor parents generally would be required to live at home with their parent(s) or in other supportive living arrangements in order to qualify for AFDC/FSP. For those living at home, the current rule, which requires States to consider the income and circumstances of the parent of a minor child when determining eligibility (if the minor is living with her parent(s)), would be repealed.

States would be permitted to require school attendance by the minor parent and require that the minor parent participate in training in parenting and family living skills, including nutrition and health education if day care is guaranteed and participation is part-time.

BENEFIT IMPROVEMENTS

1. Annual Evaluation

Each State would be required to reevaluate its AFDC/FSP need and payment standards annually and report the results of this evaluation to the Secretary of Health and Human Services and the public.

2. Enhanced Federal Match

Beginning on Oct. 1, 1988, States would receive a higher Federal match for AFDC/FSP benefit increases. To accomplish this, the Federal match would be increased by 25 percent for any AFDC/FSP benefit increases. States would be prohibited from lowering benefits below the current nominal level. A study of the implementation and effect of this provision would be required 3 and 5 years after enactment.

3. Minimum Benefit Study

The National Academy of Sciences would study alternative minimum benefit proposals, including a family living standard, weighted national median income, State median income and the poverty level.

MISCELLANEOUS AFDC PROVISIONS

1. AFDC-Food Stamp Coordination

A commission would be established to study and make recommendations on AFDC-food stamp coordination.

2. Uniform Reporting Requirements

Standard reporting requirements would be established for this Act and for the social services block grant authorized under Title XX of the Social Security Act.

3. New York State Demonstration

The Secretary of Health and Human Services would be authorized to permit the State of New York to test a child support demonstration program as an alternative to the existing public assistance system.

4. Homeless Families

Demonstration projects would be authorized to test whether emergency assistance payments to homeless families can be reduced through the construction or renovation of permanent housing.

5. Washington State Demonstration

The Secretary of Health and Human Services would be authorized to grant waivers for the State of Washington to carry out its Family Independence Program.

6. Interagency Panel

An interagency panel to evaluate employment and training activities and demonstrations would be established under the Secretary. Panel representatives would be from the General Accounting Office, Congressional Research Service, Congressional Budget Office, and the Office of Management and Budget.

7. American Samoa

The AFDC program would be extended to American Samoa to the same extent and under the same conditions that AFDC is available to the territories and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Funds would be limited to $1 million per year.

8. Increased Funds for the Territories

The ceiling on funds to the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands would be permanently increased by $10 million. The funds would be distributed as follows: Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, $9.27 million; Guam, $425,000; and Virgin Islands, $309,000. In addition, a study would be conducted to identify ways to correct the obvious imbalances that exist among the territories, and between the territories and the States.

9. Study of Housing Problems

An interagency working group staffed by the Department of Health and Human Services and the Department of Housing and Urban Development would report to Congress the results of a study of housing problems experienced by AFDC recipients, particularly transient families. Data on the number of evictions, the available housing stock, and successful innovative programs would be included. The study would be due within 6 months after the date of enactment and would include recommendations for action.

10. Sanction for Failure to Complete Treatment for Drug or Alcohol Abuse

Upon notice from a treatment program, benefits for any AFDC/FSP recipient who refuses to participate in, and complete, a drug or alcohol abuse treatment program would be terminated.

FOOD STAMP PROVISIONS

1. Simplification and Coordination

The bill would mandate that applicants for AFDC benefits be informed that they can simultaneously apply for food stamp benefits.

The bill would make permanent the provision in current law which authorizes AFDC beneficiaries to be categorically eligible for food stamps.

2. Work Incentives

(a) Dependent Care.—The bill would:

(1) Allow deduction for dependent care of $200 a month for each dependent who is less than 2 years of age and $175 a month for each other dependent.

(2) Reimburse from employment and training funds for dependent care expenses of persons participating in employment and training up to the same level as the dependent care deduction. The State share of this reimbursement would be 50 percent.

Student Assistance.—

(1) The bill conforms the food stamp income exclusion under current law for Federal education assistance programs to all recognized education and training programs. This provision will ensure that members of households currently eligible for food stamps can participate in all recognized training and education programs without jeopardizing food stamp benefits. Excluded from income for purposes of food stamp eligibility and benefits under the bill would be: Tuition, fees, supplies, transportation, and miscellaneous personal expenses (other than living expenses) for a student who is attending a recognized postsecondary school, institution of higher education, school for the handicapped, training program, or program that provides for completion of a secondary education or obtaining the equivalent of a secondary school diploma.

(2) The eligibility of students to participate in the Food Stamp program is also changed to ensure that students from low-income households are not denied benefits. To ensure that students from middle- and upper-income families do not establish separate households in order to become eligible for food stamp benefits, the bill limits eligibility to students living with a parent, grandparent, or legal guardian in a household that is otherwise eligible for foodstamps.

(c) Employment and Training.—

(1) At State's option, increase the reimbursement for work expenses (other than day care) from $25 to $75 per participant. The State share of this reimbursement would be 50 percent.

(2) Mandate development of outcome-related performance standards.

(3) Ensure that food stamp offices are open at hours convenient for persons participating in employment and training.

3. Family Incentive

Exclude from income for purposes of food stamp benefits the first $50 a month which a household receives in child support payments that are paid to AFDC families receiving food stamps.

4. Farm Household Provisions

(a) Exclusion of two-party crop payments.—Exclude from income for food stamp purposes, payments for goods or products to a member of a farm household and to a lending institution or an individual who holds a security or leasehold interest in those goods or products except to the extent that proceeds of the payment are actually available to the household.

(b) Annualizing self-employment income for farmers.—For farm households which receive regular income but have irregular expenses, calculate income by averaging such income and expenses over a 12-month period at the option of the household.

(c) Resource exemption for farms in transition.—Exclude from the food stamp asset test, the value of property such as farm land and work-related equipment such as farm machinery if a member of the household has ceased self-employment in farming. This exclusion shall end 12 months after the household member has ceased self-employment in farming.

(d) Demonstration projects.—States will be given the option to conduct food stamp outreach to farm households and to provide special training to food stamp caseworkers in eligibility determination and certification of farm households. The Secretary shall develop a training manual to assist States in such training. State expenses to conduct this outreach and training shall be reimbursed at the 50 percent rate which is the current reimbursement rate for administrative expenses in the Food Stamp program.

5. Washington State Demonstration

Authorize a 5-year demonstration of the Family Independence program in Washington State. This demonstration includes the cash out of food stamps for households with one or more members participating in the employment and training program which would be authorized in this demonstration. The cash equivalent of food stamps would be combined with the grant under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program under this demonstration.

6. Other Family Independence Demonstration Projects

Authorize up to 10 States to conduct the Family Independence Demonstration under all the terms and conditions specified for the Washington State Demonstration Project with one exception. The exception is that food coupons would have to be provided instead of the standard cash benefit for food assistance authorized in the bill for Washington State.

H.R. 2167 (Mr. Luken with cosponsors); passed House Nov. 9, 1987.

H.R. 2167, the Railroad Unemployment Insurance and Retirement Improvement Act of 1987, was jointly referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Energy and Commerce. The bill was reported to the House by the Energy and Commerce Committee on May 21, 1987, and by the Ways and Means Committee on Oct. 19, 1987.

As passed by the House on Nov. 9, 1987, the Ways and Means provisions would implement many of the recommendations made in 1984 by the congressionally-mandated Railroad Unemployment Compensation Committee. The bill includes modest benefit improvements and establishes an experience rating tax schedule in which an employer's taxes would be directly proportional to the amount of unemployment benefits paid to employees.

In addition to revising the basic tax structure for the Railroad Unemployment Insurance program, the committee amendments to H.R. 2167 would guarantee that the debt (plus interest) owed by the Railroad Unemployment Insurance program to the retirement program is repaid gradually over the next 12 years, simplify and streamline the existing tax structure, and ease the transition to the experience-rated system for public commuter railroads.

The revenue provisions of H.R. 2167, as amended by the Committee on Ways and Means, include the following:

Taxable wage base.—Indexes the $600 per month taxable wase base to two-thirds of the increase in national average wages. In addition, the same taxable wage base would be used for all railroad unemployment taxes by changing the taxable wage base for the debt repayment tax and the surtax from $7,000 annually to $600 monthly.

Experience rating.—Establishes an "experience rating" tax schedule for employers; employer tax rates would be proportional to layoffs; tax rates could be as high as 12.5 percent.

Administrative tax rate.—Increases the administrative tax rate from 0.5 percent to 0.65 percent.

Repayment tax.—Changes the current payment tax rate to 4.0 percent, beginning in 1989 and maintains it until the debt to the retirement program plus interest is repaid.

Surcharge rate schedule.—Incorporates the present law 3.5 percent surtax, which is applied to new borrowing, into a new surcharge rate schedule. Under this approach, a surcharge of 1.5 percent would apply when net assets in the RUI account fall below $100 million. A surcharge of 2.5 percent would be in effect if net assets dropped to less than $50 million. The 3.5 percent surcharge would apply if net assets were below zero.

Public commuter railroads.—Allows public commuter railroads to cover their unemployment and sickness costs in the Railroad Unemployment Compensation program on a "reimbursable basis" for 1988 and 1989 only. Beginning in 1990, public commuter railroads would be required to participate in the experience rated system on the same basis as any other railroad.

Reporting requirements.—1Requires a separate "section 502" report on the financial condition of the Railroad Unemployment Compensation program each year.

GAO study of fraud and payment errors.—Requires a study of the frequency of fraud and payment errors in the Railroad Unemployment Compensation program. The report would include estimates of annual losses due to fraud and overpayment, a comparison of similar rates on other Federal programs, and recommendations for legislative measures that would solve any fraud and payment error problems that are identified by the study.

H.R. 2310 (Mr. Mineta with cosponsors); Public Law 100–223; app. Dec. 30, 1987.

H.R. 2310, The Airport and Airway Safety and Capacity Expansion Act of 1987, was referred to the Committees on Public Works and Transportation and Science and Technology. The Science and Technology Committee reported the bill to the House on June 3, 1987, and the Public Works Committee reported it on June 26, 1987. The Ways and Means Committee approved provisions to fund a 5-year trust fund spending authorization with extension of related excise taxes for 3-years on Aug. 3, 1987. These were added as a separate title to the bill as it passed the House on Oct. 1, 1987.

The bill passed the Senate with an amendment in the nature of a substitute (text of S. 1184), and other amendments on Oct. 28, 1987. On Dec. 15, 1987, a conference report was filed. The conference report was agreed to in the Senate on Dec. 17 and in the House on Dec. 18, 1987.

The President signed the bill into law on Dec. 30, 1987, as Public Law 100–223. A summary of title IV of the act follows.

1. Extends for 3 years the present law airport and airway-related excise taxes and exemptions (Jan. 1, 1988 through Dec. 31, 1992).

2. Extends for 5 years authority to spend from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund (Oct. 1, 1987 through Oct. 1, 1982), and would update the trust fund statute to reflect trust fund authorization in H.R. 2310.

3. Automatic 50 percent reductions in air passenger ticket, cargo and fuel taxes for a calendar year, if trust fund appropriations for airport improvements, airway facilities and equipment, and research, engineering, and development for the prior fiscal year total less than 85 percent of authorized levels after Dec. 1, 1989.

4. Emergency medical helicopters owned or leased by health care facilities which do not use the federally assisted airport and airway facilities funded by these taxes are exempt from all applicable airport and airway excise taxes.

H.R. 2360 (Mr. Rostenskowski and Mr. Duncan); Public Law 100–40; app. May 15, 1987.

H.R. 2360, providing for a temporary increase in the public debt limit, was reported to the House by the Committee on Ways and Means on May 11, 1987. The bill provides an increase of $20 billion in the public debt limit from $2,300 billion to $2,320 billion through July 17, 1987, after which the limit reverts to $2,111 billion. The increase goes into effect on enactment.

The debt limit level in this bill is the amount estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury as sufficient to meet borrowing needs through July 17, 1987.

H.R. 2360 passed the House on May 13, 1987. A committee amendment, which was made in order by the rule, to increase the statutory limit on the debt to $2,578 trillion was rejected by the House. The bill passed the Senate on May 14, 1987, without amendment.

The President signed H.R. 2360 into law on May 15, 1987, as Public Law 100–40.

H.R. 2470 (Mr. Stark with cosponsors); passed Senate Oct. 27, 1987. (Pending in conference.)

H.R. 2470, the Medicare Catastrophic Protection Act of 1987, was reported to the House on May 22, 1987.

A summary of the bill as reported follows.

Provisions Relating to Part A

I. INPATIENT HOSPITAL SERVICES

a. Inpatient hospital deductible

The inpatient hospital deductible would apply only to a beneficiary's first period of continuous hospitalization beginning in a calendar year. The deductible would be indexed to the Social Security cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) each year. This deductible is estimated to be approximately $541 in 1988.

b. Elimination of day limitation on inpatient hospital services

The Medicare limits on payment for days of inpatient hospital care (90 days of inpatient hospital care plus a lifetime reserve of 60 days) would be eliminated so that Medicare would pay for an unlimited number of hospital days for covered services. The 190-day lifetime limit on inpatient psychiatric hospital services would be retained.

c. Elimination of coinsurance amounts for inpatient hospital services

The current hospital inpatient coinsurance amounts for days 61 through 90 and coinsurance for the 60 lifetime reserve days would be eliminated.

d. Elimination of spell of illness

The "spell of illness" methodology would be eliminated for determining: the number of hospital days Medicare would cover; the skilled nursing facility coinsurance; and the part A blood deductible.

e. Adjustments in payments for inpatient hospital services

When adjusting the Medicare hospital payment system, the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) would be required to take into account the reductions in beneficiary payments to hospitals because of the elimination of the day limitation. The Secretary, when appropriate, would adjust the payment rates under the prospective payment system (PPS), the outlier cutoff points, the weighting factors, and the target amounts for paying non-PPS hospitals.

II. EXTENDED CARE SERVICES (SKILLED NURSING FACILITY)

a. Coinsurance of first 7 days

Beneficiaries would be required to pay coinsurance amounts for the first 7 days of such services.

b. Coinsurance equal to 20 percent

The coinsurance amount per day would be equal to 20 percent of the national average per diem Medicare reasonable cost for skilled nursing facility (SNF) services in the succeeding year. The coinsurance amount is estimated to be approximately $24 per day in 1988.

c. Cover 150 days of care

The Medicare program would cover 150 days, instead of the current 100 days, of skilled nursing care services in a calendar year.

d. Prior hospitalization requirement

The 3-day prior hospitalization requirement for skilled nursing facility benefits would be eliminated effective for skilled nursing facility stays beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1989.

III. HOSPICE CARE

a. Extending day limit on hospice care

The Medicare program would extend the hospice benefit, and reimburse a hospice, beyond the current 210-day benefit period if the beneficiary's physician or hospice director recertified that the beneficiary was still terminally ill.

IV. BLOOD DEDUCTIBLE

a. Change blood deductible requirement

A Medicare beneficiary would be responsible for payment of a deductible equal to the expenses incurred for the first 3 pints of whole blood (or equivalent quantities of packed red blood cells) furnished each calendar year. The blood deductible could be met by replacing the blood, in accordance with regulations.

V. TRANSFER OF HOME HEALTH BENEFITS TO PART B

a. Transfer of home health benefits to part B

Beginning on Jan. 1, 1989, home health care benefits would be a covered benefit under part B only, except for individuals eligible for part A but not enrolled in part B. There would be no change in coverage or reimbursement policies for these home health benefits.

VI. FINANCING

a. Supplemental premium

A supplemental premium would be calculated from a Medicare part A eligible individual's adjusted gross income for tax purposes. This supplemental premium would depend on income, and would be determined from a table in the tax form instructions. However, adjusted gross income would not be increased. The supplemental premium would be adjusted to reflect the increase in the cost of Medicare benefits. The supplemental premium would be mandated and not treated as a deductible expense. The maximum supplemental premium an individual would pay in 1988 would be approximately $580 and in 1992, approximately $930.

Individuals not required to pay the supplemental premium would include: (1) any individual who is entitled to benefits under part A of Medicare solely by reason of the payment of a premium for part A, (2) any individual who is required to pay an additional part B premium by virtue of being a resident of an American Commonwealth or Territory, (3) any individual who is required to pay an additional part B premium because the individual is entitled only to part B benefits, and (4) any qualified nonresident.

VII. EFFECTIVE DATE

The above part A benefits would be effective for services provided on or after Jan. 1, 1988. Tax changes would apply to taxable years ending after Dec. 31, 1987.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART B

I. LIMITATION ON MEDICARE OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES UNDER PART B

a. Limit out-of-pocket expenses

After a Medicare beneficiary had incurred out-of-pocket part B covered expenses in a calendar year which exceeded the part B catastrophic limit, (a) Medicare would be required to pay 100 percent of reasonable charges (or in some cases, the reasonable costs) for any additional part B covered services in the year, and (b) no further deductibles would be required.

Out-of-pocket part B expenses would be defined to include the part B $75 deductible, the part B blood deductible, $250 of reimbursable mental health services and the 20-percent coinsurance required to be paid by beneficiaries for part B benefits.

The part B catastrophic limit would be $1,043 in 1989 and increased by the Social Security COLA in succeeding years.

For prepaid health care organizations paid on the basis of aggregate reasonable cost, the Secretary would be required to provide for an appropriate adjustment to their payment amounts to reflect the increase in protection as if payment were made on an individual-by-individual basis.

b. Institutional provider limitation

Institutional providers with agreements with the Medicare program would be prohibited from charging Medicare beneficiaries for services for which catastrophic benefit payments are made to the provider.

II. HOME HEALTH SERVICES

The "intermittent" skilled nursing care definition for home health services would be expanded so that "daily" would be defined as up to 7 days a week for up to 35 days in any given period, instead of 5 days a week for up to 2 or 3 weeks. A subsequent extension could be provided based on a physician's certification of exceptional circumstances requiring the continuation of services beyond the 35 days.

III. OUTPATIENT MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

The present law maximum Medicare reimbursement for mental health outpatient services would be raised from the current limit of $250 to $1,000 per calendar year. The coinsurance requirement would remain the same.

IV. MAILING NOTICE REQUIREMENT AND PHYSICIAN DIRECTORIES

The Secretary would be required to prepare an annual notice to be sent to all Medicare beneficiaries that would provide a simple, clear explanation of Medicare benefits. This notice would also include an explanation of the limits of the Medicare and Medicaid programs with regard to long-term care benefits. In addition, a directory of participating physicians would be sent to each beneficiary each year starting in January 1988.

V. PROVIDING ADDITIONAL MEDICAL ASSISTANCE FOR INDIGENT MEDICARE BENEFICIARIES

a. Providing additional medical assistance for indigent medicare beneficiaries

The Federal Supplemental Security Income program (SSI) would be amended to establish a separate category of elderly and disabled for whom State Medicaid programs, including States operating under sec. 1115(a) waivers, would be required to pay the Medicare premium, deductibles and coinsurance amounts.

All elderly and disabled individuals with incomes up to the Federal Census Bureau poverty threshold level would be entitled to participate in this program. The current Federal matching requirements would apply to this provision. The States would be required to begin paying monthly premiums for months beginning with July 1988, and for items and services provided on and after July 1, 1988.

VI. PART B PREMIUM ADJUSTMENT

a. Part B premium adjustment

The part B premium would be adjusted so that $1 per month would be added to the current law part B monthly premium in 1990; and a net amount equal to approximately $1.50 per month would be added in 1991 and 1992. Thereafter, the part B premium would be increased by the same percentage increase as the increase in the cost-of-living adjustment for Social Security benefits.

b. Part B premium for residents of U.S. Commonwealths and Territories

Medicare beneficiaries residing in the American Territories and Commonwealths would be required to pay an additional part B premium approximately equal to the average per capita value of the new catastrophic benefits contained in this bill.

This amount would be divided by 12, and one-twelfth would be added to the current law monthly part B premium beneficiaries now pay. In subsequent years the monthly premium would be increased by the same percentage increase as the increase in the cost-of-living adjustment for Social Security benefits.

c. Part B premium for individuals enrolled under part B but not entitled to benefits under part A

Medicare beneficiaries who are not entitled to part A benefits but who voluntarily enroll in part B would be required to pay an additional part B premium equal to the average per capita value of the new catastrophic benefits contained in this bill.

This amount would be divided by 12, and one-twelfth would be added to the current law monthly part B premium beneficiaries now pay. In subsequent years the monthly premium would be increased by the same percentage increase as the increase in the cost-of-living adjustment for Social Security benefits.

VII. MEDICARE SUPPLEMENTAL HEALTH INSURANCE POLICIES

a. Establishment of new medigap standards

The Secretary, taking into consideration any recommendations developed by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and the Medicare catastrophic legislation passed by the Congress, would be required to report to Congress, within 1500 days after enactment of the legislation. his recommendations for changes that would be made in the Federal requirements for certification of Medicare supplemental policies.

b. Required mailing of notice

Companies that issue Medicare supplemental policies that are in effect on Jan. 1, 1988, would be required by Jan. 31, 1988, on a one-time basis, to send a letter to their policyholders who are entitled to Medicare, explaining the improved benefits contained in the catastrophic legislation passed by the Congress and how these improvements will affect the benefits contained in the medigap policies and the cost of these premiums.

c. Required submission of advertising

Companies that issue Medicare supplemental policies would be required to submit their advertising files to each State insurance commission, in which they do business, for review as to whether their marketing practices comply with State law with respect to advertising used on or after Jan. 1, 1988.

d. Transition for current policies

Federal penalties for noncompliance with the substantial duplication of health benefits requirement contained in sec. 1882(d)(3)(A) would be suspended for 2 years, beginning Jan. 1, 1988, and ending Dec. 31, 1989, for existing Medicare supplemental policies, but new policies would still be subject to the penalties and fines of not more than $25,000 or imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or both, after Medicare catastrophic legislation is enacted.

VIII. EXTENSION OF SOCIAL HMO DEMONSTRATION PROJECT

a. Social HMO waiver

The current Health Care Financing Administration waiver would be extended through September 1992, for the four Special Health Maintenance Organization projects.

IX. STUDY ON COMPREHENSIVE MEDICAL COVERAGE UNDER THE MEDICARE PROGRAM

a. Comprehensive Medicare coverage study

The General Accounting Office would be required to conduct a study to assess the need for, and costs of, including comprehensive medical coverage under the Medicare program, such as extended-care services, routine dental and eye examinations, and long-term care services.

X. RESEARCH ON LONG-TERM CARE FOR MEDICARE BENEFICIARIES

a. Long-term care research

Five million dollars would be authorized for each of the next 5 years for the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services to support research on long-term care. The research would focus on issues of delivering and financing of long-term care services.

XI. EFFECTIVE DATE

The effective dates for part B benefits would be for services furnished on or after Jan. 1, 1989. The additional premium for individuals who voluntarily enroll in Medicare would begin in January 1990. The additional premium for Medicare beneficiaries residing in the Commonwealth and Territories would begin in January 1988. The additional premium for those individuals not entitled to part A benefits except by payment of a premium but who buy part B would begin in January 1989.

On Oct. 27, 1987, the Senate passed H.R. 2470 with an amendment in the nature of a substitute (S. 1127). The House disagreed to the amendment and requested a conference with the Senate on Dec. 9, 1987. The Senate agreed to a conference on Feb. 2, 1988.

H.R. 3022 (Mr. Rostenkowski and Mr. Duncan); Public Law 100–80; app. July 30, 1987.

H.R. 3022 temporarily extends the $2,320 billion debt limit by restoring the temporary increase of $209 billion to the permanent public debt limit of $2,111 billion that was enacted on May 15, 1987 (P.L. 100–40). The extension will go into effect on enactment.

The act restores the $2,320 billion temporary limit through Aug. 6, 1987. This limit expired on July 17, 1987. The limit provided in the act has been estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury to be sufficient to meet borrowing needs through Aug. 6, 1987.

H.R. 3022 was reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on July 28, 1987, and passed the House and Senate on July 29, 1987.

The President signed H.R. 3022 into law on July 30, 1987, as Public Law 100–80.

H.R. 3030 (Mr. de la Garza with cosponsors); Public Law 100–233; app. Jan. 6, 1988.

H.R. 3030, the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987, was referred to the Agriculture Committee. As reported to the House on Aug. 28, 1987, the bill contained several provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means, including provisions regarding the Federal tax treatment of certain obligations of the Temporary Assistance Corporation, mergers of unlike institutions (tax-exempts with taxables) in the farm credit system, the reorganization of Federal land banks and Federal intermediate banks into service banks, the allocation of patronage dividends, and the creation of the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation. The language of the bill was modified and statements were made on the floor of the House both as it passed the House on Oct. 6, 1987, and during debate on the conference report on Dec. 18, 1987, to insure that the changes made by the legislation as passed would not depart from normal and traditional Federal tax principles. H.R. 3030 passed the Senate amended, on Dec. 4, 1987. The conference report was filed and passed by the House on Dec. 18, 1987. The Senate passed the conference report on Dec. 19, 1987.

The President signed H.R. 3030 into law on Jan. 6, 1988, as Public Law 100–233.

H.R. 3190 (Mr. Rostenkowski); Public Law 100–84; app. Aug. 10, 1987.

H.R. 3190, providing for a temporary increase in the public debt limit, was engrossed and deemed passed by the House on Aug. 7, 1987. The bill will increase the public debt limit to $2,352 billion through Sept. 23, 1987, effective upon enactment. The Senate passed the bill without amendment on Aug. 7, 1987.

The President signed the bill into law on Aug. 10, 1987, as Public Law 100–84.

H.R. 3391 (Mr. Rostenkowski with cosponsors); passed House Oct. 6, 1987.

H.R 3391, to prohibit the importation into the United States of all products of Iran, and for other purposes, was reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on Oct. 5, 1987 and passed the House on Oct 6, 1987.

As passed the House, H.R. 3391 would place United States trade policy on the same footing as our foreign policy—namely, in opposition to the hostile actions being taken by Iran in the Persian Gulf. The bill would put an end to United States imports from Iran and thus an end to United States financial support for Iranian belligerency, as long as that may continue.

The bill prohibits United States imports from Iran as of the date of enactment. It also authorizes the Commissioner of Customs to implement appropriate regulations to guard against circumvention of the import ban. H.R. 3391 allows the President to waive temporarily the import ban on any article, if he determines that a delay is in the national economic interest. It authorizes the President to terminate the sanctions if certain conditions are met by Iran and to reinstate sanctions if Iran is no longer in compliance with those conditions. Finally, H.R. 3391 urges the President to seek multilateral import sanctions against Iran.

H.R. 3545 (Mr. Gray of Pennsylvania with cosponsors); Public Law 100–203; app. Dec. 22, 1987.

H.R. 3545, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, was reported from the Committee on the Budget on Oct. 26, 1987, and passed the House on Oct. 29, 1987 (second legislative day).

The Senate considered S. 1920, which was reported to the Senate on Dec. 4, 1987, with no written report. H.R. 3545 passed the Senate on Dec. 10, 1987, after substituting the text of S. 1920 and other amendments. On Dec. 10, 1987, the Senate requested a conference with the House. The House agreed to a conference on Dec. 11, 1987. The conference report was filed on Dec. 21, 1987, and agreed to in both the House and Senate on that date.

The President signed the bill into law on Dec. 22, 1987, as Public Law 100–203.

Following is a summary of titles IV, IX, and X of the act.

TITLE IV—MEDICARE, MEDICAID, AND OTHER HEALTH RELATED PROGRAMS

SUBTITLE A—MEDICARE

A. PART A PROVISIONS

1. Hospital prospective payment rates

The act sets the fiscal year 1988 update at 1.5 percent for PPS hospitals in urban areas greater than 1 million, 3.0 percent for PPS hospitals in rural areas, and 1.0 percent for other PPS hospitals; and sets the fiscal year 1989 update at market basket minus 2.0 percentage points for hospitals in urban areas greater than 1 million, market basket minus 1.5 percentage points for rural hospitals, and market basket minus 2.5 percentage points for other hospitals. The act sets the update factor at the market basket rate of increase for all PPS hospitals in fiscal year 1990 and later years.

For PPS-exempt hospitals, the agreement sets the annual increase for reporting periods beginning in fiscal year 1988, excluding the first 51 days of such periods, at 2.7 percent, and sets the annual increases for fiscal year 1989 and fiscal year 1990 equal to the projected increase in the market basket.

The agreement establishes a regional floor on payments to PPS hospitals during a 3-year period and requires a ProPAC analysis of hospital nonlabor costs and input prices. The act also reduces the indirect medical education adjustment to 7.70 percent and removes the existing 15 percent cap on disproportionate share hospitals effective Oct. 1, 1988. In addition, the act increases the disproportionate share adjustment to 25 percent for hospitals which qualify based upon their receiving more than 30 percent of their net revenues from public sources. The act requires that ProPAC analyze the desirability of adjusting the nonlabor portion of hospital payments based upon the input prices which hospitals face in purchasing goods and services.

2. Rural hospitals

The act revises standards for including an adjacent rural county in an urban area, expands the swing bed program to rural hospitals with up to 100 beds, expands availability of payment adjustments for small and isolated rural hospitals with declining admissions, changes the definition of rural referral centers to include all rural hospitals with more than 275 beds, and authorizes $15 million per year in fiscal years 1988-90 to fund rural demonstration projects restricted to nonprofit hospitals.

3. Payments for capital

The act reduces payments for capital costs by 12 percent in fiscal year 1988 effective Jan. 1, 1988, and by 15 percent in fiscal year 1989; requires payment for capital on a prospective basis beginning Oct. 1, 1991; and excludes capital from PPS until then.

4. Extension of reductions under sequester order

The act provides that reductions in payments under the Nov. 20, 1987 sequester order shall continue for all hospital services until Mar. 31, 1988, and for other part A services until Dec. 31, 1987.

5. Hospital reporting

The act requires the Secretary to create a new data base for the hospital reporting system utilizing information from hospitals with cost reporting periods beginning during the first 4 months of the Federal fiscal year. The act also requires the Secretary to conduct a 2-year demonstration program using a new hospital reporting format in two States.

6. Delay in effective date for requiring hospital protocols for organ procurement

The act delays the date by which the Secretary must complete designation of orgaan procurement agencies until Mar. 31, 1988.

7. Miscellaneous and technical provisions relating to part A

The act increases the maximum civil monetary penalty for violation of Medicare requirements regarding emergency cases to $50,000; delays recoupment of any overpayments which may have been made to certain hospitals under sec. 1886(c) State waiver authority for 1 year; clarifies the sec. 1814(b) State waiver authority; prohibits the Secretary from making a change in policy or method regarding bad debt recognition for hospital services; increases payments for outlier cases classified in DRG's relating to burns; amends prior law regarding a miscellaneous accounting provision; requires, under certain conditions, that the Secretary determine that a pediatric hospital meets the criteria of a Medicare heart transplant facility; extends indefinitely the current waiver of certain inpatient requirements for Connecticut Hospice, Inc.; revises the appointment process for the Prospective Payment Assessment Commission; requires the Secretary to prepare a rural regulatory impact analysis for any rule or regulation that may have significant impact on small rural hospitals; clarifies that part A covers the inpatient hospital services of clinical psychologists; modifies Medicare's conditions of participation related to individual's responsible for care of a Medicare patient; and clarifies that hospitals which qualify for disproportionate share status based upon the percentage of their revenues derived from State and local government sources do so based upon their net revenues.

B. PART A AND B PROVISIONS

1. Payment standards

The act requires fiscal intermediaries to hold claims for 10 days after the date of receipt during the last 3 months of fiscal year 1988 and for 14 days during fiscal year 1989.

2. Health maintenance organization (HMO) reforms

The act broadens the use of sanctions and civil monetary penalties against HMO's and CMP's, provides for extended supplemental coverage for enrollees of an HMO which terminates its contract, and requires HMO's to notify new enrollees of the possibility that the contract will be terminated in the future. The HMO's option to have Medicare pay directly for hospital services is eliminated, while the option to deposit Medicare payments in a benefit stabilization fund is extended until 1990. The prohibition of physician incentive payments is delayed for 1 year, to April 1990. The waivers for social health maintenance organizations are extended, and other waivers are provided for a variety of organizations in special circumstances.

Finally, the act provides for new capitation demonstrations to test revisions in the rate-setting process and requires a General Accounting Office report on rate methodologies. The administration is permitted to carry out its proposal for demonstrations of contracts with employer-related groups, subject to special restrictions.

3. Publication of policies

The act includes a number of provisions to improve communications between the Secretary, fiscal intermediaries and carriers, and providers. Significant policy changes would be required to be promulgated as regulations, and providers of home health care and other extended services would receive prompt notice of other policy decisions.

4. Coverage of the disabled

The act provides that disabled beneficiaries who cease to receive Social Security disability insurance and who regain disability coverage after a period of employment may resume Medicare coverage without another 2-year waiting period.

5. Home health care quality improvements

The act establishes new conditions of participation and new survey procedures for home health care providers. Exceptions, including leaving home for medical treatment, are created to the requirement that an individual be confined to home in order to be eligible for home health care. A new procedure for appeal of determinations of eligibility for home health care or other extended care is established, along with a toll-free hotline and investigative unit for beneficiary problems. The agreement includes a demonstration of prospective payment for home health care. It also delays the Secretary's authority to make certain program changes, including requiring prior authorization for extended care and deeming privately accredited agencies as eligible providers.

6. Other provisions

The act also: (1) makes technical changes in the ESRD program and requires a report on the program from the Secretary; (2) clarifies that government entities are the primary payers for disabled employees who are Medicare beneficiaries; (3) delays the Secretary's plan to use administrative law judges employed by the Health Care Financing Administration, rather than those in the Social Security Administration, to hear Medicare appeals; and (4) establishes rural health medical education demonstration projects.

C. PART B

1. Sequester and delay in update

The act continues the sequester through Mar. 31, 1988. The physician payment update is delayed until Apr. 1, 1988.

2. Physician payments

The act provides that for the 9-month period beginning Apr. 1, 1988, the increase in the Medicare economic index for participating physicians is 3.6 percent for primary care services and 1 percent for other physicians' services. For nonparticipating physicians, the increase is 3.1 percent for primary care services and 0.5 percent for other services.

For physicians' services furnished in 1989, the percentage increase for participating physicians is 3.0 percent for primary care services and 1.0 percent for other services. For nonparticipating physicians, the increase is 2.5 percent for primary care services and 0.5 percent for other services.

The act provides for a 5-percent incentive payment for primary care services furnished by physicians in class I or II rural health manpower shortage areas effective Jan. 1, 1989. Urban health manpower shortage areas would be included in 1991.

3. Overpriced procedures

The act provides for a 2-percent across-the-board reduction in the prevailing charges for selected overpriced procedures plus an additional reduction of between 0 and 15 percent for physicians in areas with prevailing charges between 85 and 150 percent of the national average effective Apr. 1, 1988. In no case would prevailing charges be reduced below 85 percent of the national average.

The following are the procedures for which reductions are made: Coronary artery bypass surgery; total hip replacement; cataract surgery; transurethral prostatectomy; suprapubic prostatectomy; dilation and curettage; carpal tunnel repair; pacemaker surgery; bronchoscopy; upper gastrointestinal endoscopy; knee arthroscopy; and knee arthroplasty.

The act also limits Medicare reimbursement for ophthalmic ultrasound procedures to 5 percent of the prevailing charge for cataract surgery with intraocular lens implantation.

4. New physicians

The act sets the customary charge for new physicians at 80 percent of the prevailing charge. The provision does not apply to primary care services or to services furnished in rural health manpower shortage areas.

5. Anesthesia/radiology

The act reduces payments to anesthesiologists for concurrent supervision of certified registered nurse anesthetists. It establishes a fee schedule for radiology services provided by board-certified and board-eligible radiologists or by physicians whose charges for radiologic services account for 50 percent or more of their Medicare charges.

6. Clinical labs

The act makes the following changes to clinical laboratory provisions. There would be no fee schedule update for 1988. The differential between hospital outpatient labs and independent labs would be eliminated except for sole community hospitals. Fee schedule allowances for automated tests and tests subject to the lowest charge provision (except for cytopathology tests) would be reduced by 8.3 percent. The nationwide limit on fee schedule allowances would be reduced to 100 percent of the median of carrierwide fee schedules effective Apr. 1, 1988. The act also establishes intermediate sanctions for labs which no longer substantially meet the conditions of participation for clinical laboratories and requires quality certification of high-volume physician office labs effective in 1990.

7. Durable medical equipment

The act establishes a 1-year freeze on durable medical equipment payment screens effective Jan. 1, 1988, at the levels in effect on Dec. 31, 1987. Beginning in 1989 a new payment mechanism, based on fee schedules, is established for durable medical equipment, prosthetic devices, orthotics, and prosthetics.

8. Payments to hospital outpatient departments for radiology

The act contains a limit on aggregate payments for hospital outpatient radiology departments based on payment screens for comparable services provided in physicians' offices.

9. Coinsurance for ambulatory surgery

The act does not include an increase in the part B deductible. It does include restoration of beneficiary cost sharing for physician services provided in ambulatory surgical centers.

10. Part b premium

The act extends for 1 year through calendar year 1989 the current 25 percent payment provision.

11. Influenza

The act directs the Secretary to conduct a major demonstration project to evaluate the cost effectiveness of providing influenza vaccines to aged Medicare beneficiaries.

12. Therapeutic shoes

The act provides for a demonstration project concerning coverage of therapeutic shoes for individuals with diabetic foot disease.

13. Mental health

The act increases the maximum payment for mental health services to $450 in 1988 and $1,100 in 1989.

D. MEDICARE AND MEDICAID NURSING HOME STANDARDS REFORM

1. Nurse staffing

The act retains Medicare's current law nurse staffing and registered nurse requirements and waiver provisions applying to the RN requirement. For Medicaid, the act requires as of Oct. 1, 1990, that all SNF's and ICF's, in urban and rural areas, provide 24-hour licensed practical nurse care 7 days a week, with at least one RN employed 7 days a week, 8 hours a day. The act authorizes States to waive the RN and LPN requirements if (1) the institution demonstrates to the satisfaction of the State that it has been unable, despite diligent efforts (including offering wages at the prevailing rates at other nursing facilities), to recruit appropriate personnel, and (2) the State determines that a waiver of the requirement will not endanger the health or safety of individuals staying in the institution. The act also authorizes the Secretary to exercise States' authority to grant such waivers if the Secretary finds, based on a clear pattern and practice of allowing waivers in the absence of diligent efforts, that a State had abused its discretion.

2. Social workers

The act requires facilities with more than 120 beds to employ full-time at least one social worker (with at least a bachelor's degree in social work or similar professional qualifications).

3. Nurse aide training

The act requires nurse aides to complete a training and competency evaluation or separate competency evaluation program. Nursing facilities may not use an individual as a nurse aide after Jan. 1, 1990, who has not completed or is enrolled in such a program approved by the State. The Secretary's standards for nurse aide training must include a minimum of 75 hours of initial training.

4. Activities program professionals

The act requires that the facility's on-going program of activities be directed by a qualified professional.

5. Nursing facility administrators

The act requires the Secretary to establish standards for nursing facility administrators.

6. Transfer and discharge requirements

The act applies transfer and discharge requirements to all transfers and discharges.

7. Nurse aide registry

The act requires establishment of a nurse aide registry and that the State provide through the survey and certification agency for a process for the investigation of allegations of resident neglect and abuse (including the misappropriation of personal funds) by a nurse aide. A nurse aide so accused would be granted an opportunity for a hearing before the State survey and certification agency. No nurse aide's name would be placed on the registry until the individual had been notified of the right of a hearing, and either a hearing had taken place and the allegations had been substantiated, or the individual had waived, after being given a reasonable opportunity, his/her right to a hearing.

8. Survey and certification

The act expands the standard survey to include a review of residents' rights and requires the Secretary to conduct validation surveys with respect to no fewer than 5 percent of the facilities surveyed by the State in a year, but in no case less than five facilities in a State.

9. Enforcement

The act establishes Federal and State intermediate sanctions and provides that only Federal intermediate sanctions be applied to Medicare skilled nursing facilities.

E. PEER REVIEW ORGANIZATION PROVISIONS

The act authorizes 3-year PRO contract periods with staggered expiration dates; requires that a preliminary notice of denial be sent to providers and practitioners 20 days before a denial could become effective; requires publication in the Federal Register of specified information on PRO contracts; encourages competition for contracts held by out-of-State PRO's which are subject to renewal; prohibits physicians, in the case of assigned claims, from billing Medicare beneficiaries for payments denied on substandard quality grounds; requires PRO's, in establishing review standards, to take into account the special problems associated with delivering care in remote rural areas, the availability of service alternatives to inpatient hospitalization, and social factors that could adversely affect the safety or effectiveness of outpatient treatment; requires PRO's to perform substantial on-site review in 20 percent of the rural hospitals in the PROs' areas; requires PRO's to meet several times each year with hospital medical and administrative staff about PRO review; requires PRO's to determine whether health maintenance organizations or competitive medical plan enrollees have adequate access to health care services, and to require beneficiary outreach programs; requires that initial PRO review of psychiatric and physical rehabilitation services be made by physicians with corresponding specialties; requires the Secretary to establish demonstration projects on instruction and oversight through video communications; entitles providers or practitioners, in rural health manpower shortage areas and in countries with a population of less than 70,000, to a hearing before an administrative law judge prior to temporary exclusion from the Medicare program for reasons of substandard quality; and requires the Secretary to report to Congress on improving procedures for imposing sanctions.

Title IX—Income Security and Related Programs

SUBTITLE A—OASDI PROVISIONS

A. COVERAGE AND BENEFITS

1. Extend FICA tax to certain earnings

The act approves several items to extend FICA taxes and social security coverage to forms of employment currently exempt, effective Jan. 1, 1988:

Armed Services reservists.—Extends FICA taxes to "inactive duty training" (generally weekend training drill sessions).

Agricultural workers.—Modifies FICA tax treatment of agricultural labor such that: (a) any remuneration for agricultural labor paid by an employer to an employee would constitute wages if the employer pays more than $2,500 to all employees for such labor during the taxable year; (b) the $150 annual cash pay test would continue to be applied if the $2,500 annual payroll test is not met; and (c) the 20-day test would be eliminated.

Individuals aged 18-21.—Extends FICA taxes to services performed by individuals between the ages of 18 and 21 who are employed in their parent's trade or business.

Spouses.—Extends FICA taxes to services performed by an individual in the employ of his or her spouse's trade or business.

Tips.—Extends the employer's share of FICA taxes to include all cash tips (up to the social security wage base).

2. Treatment of group-term life insurance wages under FICA

The act includes employer-provided group-term life insurance in wages for FICA tax purposes if such insurance were includible for gross income tax purposes, effective Jan. 1, 1988.

3. Correction in Government pension offset

The act provides that Federal employees who switch from the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) to the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS) on or after Jan. 1, 1988, will be exempt from the Government pension offset if they have 5 or more years of Federal employment covered by social security after Dec. 31, 1987.

4. Modification of voluntry coverage agreement with the State of Iowa

The act permits the State of Iowa to modify retroactively its voluntary agreement with the Secretary of Health and Human Services to validate coverage for certain police officers and fire fighters.

5. Continuation of disability benefits pending appeal

The act extends for 1 year the provision for continued payment of disability benefits during the administrative appeal process. This provision expires on Dec. 31, 1988, with continued benefits last payable in July 1989.

6. Lengthening of the extended period of eligibility for disability benefits

The act lengthens the extended period of eligibility during which a disability beneficiary who returns to work may become automatically reentitled to benefits, from the current 15 months to 36 months. Medicare eligibility is not continued beyond the period provided under current law. The provision is effective Jan. 1, 1988.

B. OTHER SOCIAL SECURITY PROVISIONS

1. Payment of attorneys' fees

The act reinstates the administrative policy which permits ALJ's to authorize attorneys' fees of up to $3,000 without approval by the SSA regional office. It also prohibits the issuance or amendment of any rules concerning the payment of attorneys' fees until July 1, 1989, and calls for two simultaneous studies, one by SSA and a second by the General Accounting Office, of the fee payment process. Both studies must be submitted to Congress by July 1, 1988.

2. Treatment of corporate directors' earnings

The act requires that corporate directors' earnings be treated as received when services are performed, regardless of when actually paid, for purposes of both the SECA tax and the earnings test. The provision is effective for services performed in taxable years beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1988.

C. RAILROAD RETIREMENT PROGRAM

1. Increase in railroad retirement tier II tax rate and extension of transfer of revenues to railroad retirement account

The act increases the railroad retirement tier II taxes by 2.0 percentage points, effective Jan. 1, 1988. It divides the 2.0 percentage point increase so as to increase employer contributions by 1.35 percentage points and employee contributions by 0.65 percentage point, respectively.

Additionally, the agreement establishes a seven-member Commission on Railroad Retirement Reform to perform a comprehensive study of alternative methods of securing the long-term viability of the railroad retirement system. The President would appoint four members, one of whom would represent rail labor, one of whom would represent rail management, one of whom would represent commuter railroads, and one of whom would represent the general public. The President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives would each appoint one public member. The Comptroller General of the United States would appoint one public member with expertise in pension matters. The Commission would submit its report and recommendations to Congress by Oct. 1, 1989.

The act also extends for 1 year, until Oct. 1, 1989, the transfer of revenue from income taxes paid on tier II benefits from the general fund to the railroad retirement account.

SUBTITLE B—PROVISIONS RELATING TO PUBLIC ASSISTANCE AND UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

A. AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN PROVISIONS

1. Fraud control under AFDC program

The act authorizes 75 percent Federal funding for costs of a State's fraud control program. Statutory language is added to clarify the uses of these matching funds and to require written notice of the fraud control penalties at the time of application. AFDC fraud control procedures will parallel those in use in the food stamp program.

2. Assistance to homeless AFDC families

The act prohibits the Deparment of Health and Human Services from implementing regulations proposed on Dec. 14, 1987, which would have restricted the use of AFDC funds for homeless families.

3. Washington State demonstration program

The act would allow the State of Washington to conduct a demonstration of its proposed Family Independence Program.

4. New York State demonstration project

The act would allow the State of New York to test its child supplement demonstration program as an alternative to the AFDC program.

B. CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS

1. Continuation of child support enforcement services for families no longer receiving AFDC

The act requires State child support enforcement agencies to continue child support services for families no longer eligible for AFDC on the same basis and under the same conditions as other non-AFDC families, except that no application (or application fee) for services could be required.

2. Child support services for certain families receiving Medicaid

The act requires State child support enforcement agencies to provide services to all families with an absent parent who receive medicaid and have assigned to the State their rights to support, regardless of whether they are receiving AFDC.

3. Repeal of child support revolving fund

The act replaces the present revolving fund mechanism with a requirement that any amounts collected by IRS under the authority to collect certain child support obligations be transferred directly to the State requesting the IRS assistance.

C. UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION PROVISIONS

1. Retroactive change in effective date for certain extended benefit requirements

The act amends the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1980 retroactively to give States 6 additional months, until Oct. 31, 1981, to comply with the job search requirements.

2. Self-employment demonstration program

The act authorizes a demonstration project under which States could continue paying unemployment benefits to unemployed persons who attempt to set up their own businesses.

3. FUTA tax extension

The act extends the current 0.2 percentage point surtax for 3 years, raises the ceilings in the Extended Unemployment Compensation and Federal Unemployment Accounts to help avoid future debts to the general fund, and establishes interest charges on any new loans to these accounts from the general fund.

D. SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME PROVISIONS

1. Permanent extension of disregard of certain in-kind assistance

The act permanently extends the mandatory SSI disregard and the optional AFDC disregard of in-kind assistance.

2. Exclusion of real property when it cannot be sold

The act excludes (and does not require the sale of) real property for so long as it cannot be sold because it is jointly owned, its sale is barred by a legal impediment, or, as determined by regulations issued by the Secretary of HHS, the owner's reasonable efforts to sell it have been unsuccessful.

3. Transfer of assets for less than fair market value

The act requires the Secretary of HHS to issue regulations for suspending the transfer of assets rule in cases where he determines that the suspension is necessary to avoid undue hardship.

4. Exclusion of interest in burial accounts The act requires that any interest on designated burial accounts must be excluded in determining whether an individual meets the SSI resource requirements, regardless of the amount of the individual's other resources.

5. Treatment of AFDC benefits under SSI retrospective accounting

The act provides that for purposes of the SSI program, certain income will be counted only in the month it is received. This provision applies to the following forms of income: AFDC, foster care, refugee cash assistance, Cuban/Haitian entrant assistance, or general and child welfare assistance provided by the Bureau of Ihdian Affairs.

6. Treatment of certain couples in institutions

The act permits States to treat a husband and wife residing in the same Medicaid institution as a couple if doing so would prevent a reduction or termination of Medicaid benefits.

7. Extension of deadline for certain widow(er)s to apply for Medicaid

The act extends from July 1, 1987, to July 1, 1988, the deadline for applying for special Medicaid eligibility for certain disabled widows or widowers who lost eligibility for SSI and Medicaid because of the 1983 Social Security Amendments.

8. Increase in SSI emergency advance payments

The act increases the allowable emergency advance payment to the maximum amount of the regular Federal SSI monthly benefit rate plus, if any, the federally-administered State supplement.

9. Extension of interim assistance reimbursement

The act permits States to receive reimbursement for interim assistance in cases where they have provided cash assistance to individuals whose SSI benefits were terminated or suspended, but who subsequently were found eligible for benefits.

10. Special notice to blind recipients

The act requires the Social Security Administration to give blind SSI applicants and recipients the option to receive program notices in a form other than writing.

11. Continued SSI benefits for recipients of rehabilitation services whose blindness has ceased

The act continues SSI benefits to individuals whose blindness has ceased if they are participating in an approved vocational rehabilitation program.

12. SSI eligibility for individuals in public emergency shelters

The act provides that an individual in a public emergency shelter may receive SSI for up to a total of 6 months in any period of 9 consecutive months beginning after December 1987.

13. Exclusion of underpayments from resources

The act provides that retroactive SSI and social security payments received during the 2-year period beginning Oct. 1, 1987, will be disregarded as a resource for 9 months.

14. Fill benefits for SSI recipients temporarily in institutions

The act provides full SSI benefits, including State supplementary payments, for a person who enters a medical or public psychiatric institution if a physician certifies that the person's stay is not likely to exceed 3 months and he must continue to maintain a home to which he may return.

15. Retention of Medicaid for certain widow(er)s

The act requires that an individual who would otherwise qualify for SSI on the basis of disability or blindness, but beginning at age 60 qualifies for social security early aged widow's or widower's benefits and loses eligibility for SSI, nevertheless be deemed an SSI recipient for purposes of Medicaid eligibility until they become eligible for Medicare.

16. Demonstration to assist homeless individuals in obtaining SSI

The act authorizes 10 State demonstration projects to test alternative approaches to helping homeless individuals obtain SSI benefits. These projects would include testing the SSI outreach teams proposed in the House bill.

17. Increase in personal needs allowance

The act increases the SSI personal needs allowance by $5 for an individual and $10 for a couple.

18. Exclusion of death benefits spent on last illness and burial

The act excludes from income payments occasioned by the death of another person, to the extent that the payments do not exceed the amount spent for purposes of the deceased person's last illness and burial.

E. SOCIAL SERVICES, CHILD WELFARE SERVICES, AND OTHER PROVISIONS RELATING TO CHILDREN

1. Extension of authority for voluntary foster care placements

The act permanently extends the authority for Federal matching funds for voluntarily-placed foster care children.

2. Extension of authority to transfer foster care funds

The act extends the foster care ceilings and transfer authority through Sept. 30, 1989.

3. Mother/infant foster care

The act requires that in cases where an individual placed in foster care is the parent of a son or daughter who is in the same foster home or institution, the foster care maintenance payments for the individual shall include amounts necessary to cover costs of items provided on behalf of the son or daughter. The infant would also be deemed to be a foster care child for purposes of Medicaid eligibility or for eligibility under the adoption assistance program.

4. Increase in funding for title XX block grant

The act provides for an increase in the title XX entitlement cap by $50 million for fiscal year 1988; the cap reverts to $2.7 billion in 1989. The additional funds must be used for additional services and may not supplant existing State social services funds.

5. Extension of title XX and child welfare services to American Samoa

The act makes American Samoa eligible to participate in both the title XX and child welfare services programs.

6. National Commission on Children

The act establishes a bipartisan National Commission on Children which would make recommendations regarding health of children, social and support services for children and their parents, education, income security, and tax policy.

7. Boarder babies demonstration projects

The act authorizes $4 million yearly for 3 years to fund demonstration projects to provide residential care for newborn infants whose parents abandon them to the care of hospitals.

8. Study of children with AIDS in foster care

The act authorizes a study by the Department of Health and Human Services to determine the number of infants and children in the United States who have been diagnosed as having AIDS, the problems encountered by social services agencies in placing such infants and children, and the potential growth in the number of such children over the next 5 years.

SUBTITLE C—MANUFACTURERS EXCISE TAX ON CERTAIN VACCINES

1. Excise tax to fund the vaccine injury compensation trust fund

The act imposes a per-dose excise tax on the sale of commonly prescribed vaccines at a rate of $4.56 on DPT, $4.44 on MMR, $0.29 on polio, and $0.06 on diphtheria-tetanus, effective for vaccines sold after Dec. 31, 1987. An amount equivalent to the net revenue raised by this tax is to be deposited in a new Vaccine Injury Compensation Trust Fund, used to compensate injuries from vaccines administered after Sept. 30, 1987, and before the termination of the program. The act also places new restrictions on the eligibility for compensation.

SUBTITLE D—PENSION PROVISIONS

1. Minimum funding standards and deductions

The act imposes new minimum funding standards on all single-employer defined benefit pension plans. The stricter funding standards are designed primarily to apply to currently underfunded pension plans. The act further specifies that: estimated contributions to plans would be required on a quarterly basis; the liability for contributions would be extended to an employer's entire controlled group; the availability of funding waivers would be restricted; the amortization period for unfunded liabilities would be shortened; experience gains and losses, and changes in plan assumptions would be more rapidly amortized; and, plan actuarial assumptions must be individually reasonable.

2. Employer access to plan assets

The act would modify present law rules applicable to a determination of the extent to which excess assets in an overfunded pension plan are attributable to earnings on employee contributions. Further, rules are established governing the timing of plan amendments providing for an employer reversion.

3. Treatment of plan terminations

The act increases the employer's liability to the participants to the full amount of benefit liabilities. In addition, the employer's liability to the PBGC is increased to the full amount of unfunded guaranteed benefits. In addition, the agreement increases the benefits that must be paid in a standard plan termination. In cases of distress termination, the new criteria are established for use by the courts during a reorganization. New security and lien rules are now applicable to underfunded plans.

4. PBGC premiums

The act increases the annual per-participant premium charged for single-employer defined benefit plans by the PBGC from $8.50 to $16. In addition, the act imposes a variable rate, risk-related premium on an employer who maintains an underfunded pension plan. The amount of the additional premium is $6 per $1,000 of unfunded vested liability. However, when added to the base premium, it cannot exceed $50 per participant. In addition, the maximum premium is reduced for 5 years by $3 for each year preceding the effective date for which the employer made the maximum deductible contribution to the plan.

5. Miscellaneous provisions

The act provides that notification be given to employees when certain actions regarding the pension plan are taken. Also, effective for plans established after Dec. 17, 1987, in an arrangement which consists of a defined benefit plan and an individual account plan, where the benefits from the individual account plan are taken into account in determining the benefits payable under the defined benefit plan, the arrangement will be treated as a single plan for purposes of the 10 percent limit on a plan's investments in the plan sponsor's securities.

SUBTITLE E—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

1. Repeal limitation on long-term bonds

The act increases the amount of long-term bonds which may be issued under the exception to the 4¼ percent limitation on the interest rates paid on such bonds by $20 billion, to a total of $270 billion.

2. Trust funds and other federal funds made whole

The act requires that the Secretary of the Treasury make the necessary adjustments of investments and interest payments on behalf of all federal trust funds, demand deposit SLGS, and all other federal funds denied financial transactions during a period when sufficient debt limit authority did not exist to allow such transactions, retroactive from the date of enactment to July 18, 1987.

The authority to make such adjustments does not apply to a future debt issuance suspension period.

3. Extension of program for IRS collection of nontax debts owed to Federal agencies

The act extends the tax refund offset program for 6 months (i.e., through June 30, 1988). In addition, the act expands the program so that it applies to debts owed to all Federal agencies, and it applies to debts owed by either individuals or corporations.

SUBTITLE F—PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE CUSTOMS SERVICE AND OTHER TRADE AGENCIES

1. Customs Service user fees

The act continues the ad valorem user fee level at 0.17 percent for fiscal year 1988 and continues the ceiling at 0.17 percent in future years. This fee applies to formal entries of merchandise imported for consumption.

The act also (1) extends the expiration date for 1 additional year, until Sept. 30, 1990; (2) clarifies the treatment of fees as offsetting expenditures; (3) clarifies that fees are to be deposited in the same dedicated account; (4) precludes Customs from assessing an annual fee on operators of foreign trade zones and customs bonded warehouses; (5) modifies the schedule 8 exemption; (6) requires customs services to be "adequately provided" for the clearance or preclearance of passengers and vehicles; (7) clarifies that user fees designated to reimburse an appropriation for overtime shall be reimbursed directly without being subject to apportionment; (8) requires a GAO study of the CES program and suspension of current CES operations at airports; and (9) authorizes the refund of certain user fees.

2. International Trade Commission authorization of appropriations

The act provides a fiscal year 1988 authorization of $35,386,000.

3. Customs Service authorization of appropriations

The act provides a fiscal year 1988 authorization of $1,081,501,000. The act also requires that the Customs Service notify Congress 180 days in advance of any action which would result in a significant reduction in force of employees or reduction in hours of operation, elimination or relocation of any office, elimination of any port of entry, or reduction in the number of employees assigned to an office or port of entry. It further establishes in lieu of the existing user fee advisory committee a new private sector advisory committee.

4. U.S. Trade Representative

The act provides a fiscal year 1988 authorization of $15,172,000.

Title X—Individual Tax Provisions

SUBTITLE A—INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX PROVISIONS

1. Limitations on deduction for mortgage interest

The act limits the interest deduction for debt to acquire or substantially improve a principal residence or second residence to debt of $1 million, plus up to $100,000 of other debt secured by a principal or secondary residence. The taxpayer would not be required to use the home equity loan debt to pay for educational or medical expenses.

2. Child and dependent care credit

The act denies eligibility of overnight camp expenses for the child and dependent care credit.

3. Exemption of mutual fund shareholder expenses from 2 percent floor

Beginning in 1987, miscellaneous itemized deductions generally are allowable only to the extent they exceed 2 percent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. The act delays for 1 year, until taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1987, the application of the 2 percent floor to indirect deductions with respect to publicly offered mutual funds.

SUBTITLE B—BUSINESS DEDUCTIONS

A. ACCOUNTING PROVISIONS

1. Vacation pay reserves

The act repeals deductions for additions to vacation pay reserves. Existing reserves are taken into income over a 4-year period.

2. Completed contract method

The act requires that 70 percent of income from long-term contracts be reported as the contract is completed (under the percentage of completion method). Thirty percent of the income would be deferred until completion. Under prior law, 40 percent of income from the contract was reported under the percentage of completion method.

3. Treatment of past service pension costs under uniform capitalization rules

The act applies the uniform capitalization rules to past service pension costs and applies the rules to long-term contracts.

4. Installment sales rules

The act repeals use of the installment sale method for dealers. Nondealers will be allowed to use the installment method for sales below $5 million each year. With respect to nondealer installment obligations exceeding $5 million, interest is payable annually on the amount of deferred tax attributable to the use of the installment method. Also, for nondealers the installment method will be used in determining alternative minimum taxable income. Prior law continues to apply to timeshares and residential lots.

5. Accrual accounting for certain farm corporations

Family-owned farms with gross receipts in excess of $25 million will be required to use the accrual method of accounting. Income attributable to the prior use of the cash method of accounting will be put into a suspense account which will be taken into income when the entity ceases to be a family corporation, is sold outside the family group, or when the gross receipts of the entity decline (to the extent of the decline).

6. Election of taxable year

The act provides an election for a partnership, S corporation, or personal service corporation that is otherwise required to change its taxable year to retain the taxable year currently used by the partnership, S corporation, or personal service corporation. An election also is provided for such entities to adopt or change to taxable years with limited deferral periods, which will be the lesser of the deferral in the year currently in use, or 3 months.

An electing partnership and an electing S corporation will be required to make a payment approximately equal to the tax on the deferral. An electing personal service corporation will be limited in the amount of deductions it can take for payments to employee-owners unless certain minimum distributions are made to employer-owners before the end of the calendar year.

B. PARTNERSHIP PROVISIONS

1. Taxation of master limited partnerships as corporations

The act provides that certain publicly traded partnerships will be taxed as corporations. Existing partnerships and partnerships filing with certain Federal or State agencies on or before Dec. 17, 1987, will not be taxed as corporations until Jan. 1, 1997.

2. Treatment of publicly traded partnerships under the passive loss rule

The act treats net income from publicly traded partnerships (that are not treated as corporations) as portfolio income rather than passive income for purposes of the passive loss rules, except in the case of rehabilitation and low-income housing credits.

3. Treatment of publicly traded partnerships for unrelated business income tax

The act subjects income from publicly traded partnerships to the unrelated business income tax.

C. CORPORATE PROVISIONS

1. Computation of earnings and profits for purposes of intercorporate dividends and stock basis adjustments (overruling of Woods Investment Co. case)

The act overrules the Woods Investment Company case and provides that in determining its gain or loss on disposition of a subsidiary, the parent company's gain is not reduced by certain adjustments the subsidiary has made to the subsidiary's earnings and profits.

Disposition pursuant to a written binding contract on or before Dec. 15, 1987, or pursuant to a governmental order, a letter of intent or preliminary agreement, or a stock acquisition agreement, on or before Dec. 15, 1987, are not affected by the change provided in each case that the disposition is completed before Jan. 1, 1989.

2. Reduction of tax avoidance in certain corporate dispositions ("mirror" subsidiary transactions)

The act makes changes in the rules regarding liquidations to insure that certain transactions which are designed to dispose of subsidiaries will result in the appropriate tax on the unrealized gains of such subsidiary. In general, the provisions would not apply to certain affiliated groups of corporations existing before Dec. 15, 1987, or certain corporations becoming affiliated before Jan. 1, 1988 pursuant to a binding contract or tender offer in effect on Dec. 15, 1987, if the distribution or certain transfers are made before Jan. 1, 1993.

3. Special rules for hostile corporate acquisitions

Greenmail.—The act imposes a nondeductible 50 percent excise tax on "greenmail" (gain received from a corporation's repurchase of stock from a shareholder who held the stock for less than 2 years and who made or threatened a public tender offer for the stock of the corporation). The tax will not apply if the redemption of stock is made on the same terms to all shareholders.

The excise tax will not apply to stock repurchased under a binding agreement to redeem stock entered into prior to Dec. 16, 1987.

4. Limitations on net operating loss carryforwards

The act limits the net operating loss carryforwards of a company when a majority owner of the company claims a worthless stock deduction. The act also imposes limitations on the use of a company's built-in depreciation where there is an ownership change. In addition, loss corporations will be limited in the use of their losses to shelter built-in gains of an acquired company.

5. LIFO recapture on conversion from C corporation to S corporation

The act provides that LIFO reserves be recaptured over a 4-year period on conversion from C corporation status to S corporation status.

The recapture provision applies to S corporation elections made after Dec. 17, 1987, unless on or before Dec. 17, 1987, either of the following events occurred: (1) a board of directors' resolution to elect S status, or (2) the filing of an IRS ruling request indicating an intent to elect S status; as long as the S-election is made before Jan. 1, 1989.

6. Denial of graduated tax rates for personal service corporations

The act denies the benefit of lower graduated corporate tax rates for personal service corporations.

7. Regulated investment companies (mutual funds)

The distribution required of a mutual fund to avoid a penalty excise tax is increased from 90 to 98 percent of capital gain net income.

D. PENSIONS: MODIFY FULL-FUNDING LIMITATION

The act denies deductions to a defined benefit pension plan if the plan's assets exceed 150 percent of the plan's termination liability. The Treasury is required to issue a regulation by Aug. 15, 1988, adjusting the 150 percent figure in a budget-neutral manner, to reflect the age and service of the plan participants.

E. FOREIGN TAX PROVISIONS

1. Treatment of South African income

The act denies foreign tax credits and deferral of U.S. tax on income of a U.S.-owned corporation with respect to South African income.

F. INSURANCE PROVISIONS

1. Interest rate on tax reserves of life insurance companies

The act provides that the interest rate to be used in determining the amount of the deduction for increases in life insurance reserves for any contract is the greater of the applicable Federal rate (AFR) or the prevailing State assumed rate. A company may make a one-time election to adjust the rate every 5 years. Also, if the AFR changes by less than 50 basis points, no adjustment will be made.

2. Treatment of investment income of foreign insurance companies

The act amends a prior law provision taxing foreign insurance companies on a portion of their U.S. investment income.

3. Treatment of mutual life insurance company policyholder dividends for the alternative minimum tax book preference

The act provides generally that, for purposes of the book income preference, mutual life insurance companies may not reduce book income for policyholder dividends paid or accrued during the year by more than the amount allowable in computing life insurance company taxable income. The Treasury Department is given regulatory authority to require certain adjustments in the calculations for both stock and mutual insurance companies.

4. Treatment of certain insurance syndicates (Lloyds of London)

The act does not require corporate level tax on certain United Kingdom insurance syndicates doing business in the United States. However, the Treasury Department is required to study this issue and renegotiate certain closing agreements exempting the income of these syndicates from U.S. tax.

SUBTITLE C—ESTIMATED TAX PROVISIONS

The act provides a speed-up of corporate estimated tax payments.

SUBTITLE D—ESTATE AND GIFT TAX PROVISIONS

1. Extension of 1987 tax rates

The act extends the prior law top estate tax rate of 55 percent for 5 years. This rate applies to estates of over $3 million in value.

2. Graduated rates and unified credit

The act phases out the benefit of the lower graduated estate and gift tax rates and the unified estate and gift tax credit for estates in excess of $10 million in value.

3. Estate tax deduction for sales to an ESOP

The act corrects an error in the Tax Reform Act of 1986 relating to estate tax relief through the sale of employer securities to an employee stock ownership plan (ESOP).

4. Estate freezes and minority discounts for estate and gift tax valuation purposes

The act generally limits estate and gift tax benefits from estate freezes where a person holding a substantial interest in an enterprise transfers a disproportionate share of the appreciation and retains the possession or enjoyment of the right to income from the property. The act does not change present law with regard to minority discounts.

SUBTITLE E—PROVISIONS RELATING TO EXCISE TAXES AND USER FEES

1. Telephone excise tax

The act provides a 3-year extension of the present 3 percent telephone excise tax.

2. Collection of excise tax on nongasoline fuels

The act imposes nongasoline motor fuel excise taxes at the wholesale level (rather than the retail level). Discretionary authority is provided to the Treasury to exempt sales of (a) diesel fuel for use in trains; (b) aviation fuel for use in commercial aviation; and (c) sales to State and local governments.

3. Coal excise tax

The termination for the coal excise tax rate is extended from Jan. 1,1996, to the earlier of (1) Jan. 1, 2014, or (2) the date the Black Lung Disability Trust Fund achieves solvency.

SUBTITLE F—EMPLOYMENT TAXES

For an explanation of railroad retirement and FUTA tax provisions, see title IX, supra.

SUBTITLE G—OTHER REVENUE-INCREASE PROVISIONS

1. Application of targeted jobs tax credit

The act denies targeted jobs tax credit for hiring strikebreakers.

2. Tax-exempt bonds for purchase of existing output facilities

The act subjects tax-exempt bonds for the purchase of facilities from private utilities to the private activity volume cap with exceptions for facilities to serve areas presently served by public power agencies and areas annexed by governments served by public power agencies.

3. Tax-exempt bonds issued by Indian tribes

The act limits the issuance of tax-exempt bonds by Indian tribal governments to governmental activities customarily financed by State and local governments. An exception is provided for facilities of tribal enterprises located on reservations and providing significant Indian employment.

SUBTITLE H—LOBBY PROVISIONS

The act requires tax-exempt organizations to meet certain requirements regarding the disclosure of the nondeductibility of contributions and certain other information, public inspection of exemption application and annual information returns, and additional information on certain annual information returns. The act imposes penalties for noncompliance. With regard to political campaign activities and lobbying activities of sec. 501(c)(3) organizations, the act provides a clarification of prohibited political campaign activities, changes the status of an organization after loss of exemption of a 501(c)(3) organization because of political campaign activities, provides excise taxes on political expenditures of charitable organizations, provides additional enforcement authority in the case of flagrant political expenditures by charitable organizations, and provides excise taxes on lobbying expenditures, where exemption has been revoked, of certain charitable organizations.

H.J.Res. 324; Public Law 100–119; app. Sept. 29, 1987.

H.J.Res. 324, as introduced, increases the permanent debt level to $2,565 billion through Sept. 30, 1988. On June 23, 1987, the resolution was engrossed and deemed passed the House. On July 10, 1987, the Senate Finance Committee reported the resolution. It passed the Senate on July 31, 1987, with amendments. A conference report was filed on Sept. 21, 1987. The House agreed to the conference report on September 22, and the Senate on September 23, 1987.

The President signed the resolution into law on Sept. 29, 1987, as Public Law 100-119. A summary of the act follows.

The act increases the permanent public debt limit to $2,800 billion. Gramm-Rudman-Hollings is amended to reinstate the automatic sequestration process of the original Gramm-Rudman-Hollings bill. The act grants the OMB the authority to make the final determination of the sequester order and revises the timetable for sequestration.

The act revises the deficit targets and potential sequestration amounts. Sequestration for fiscal year 1988 would be $23 billion, minus the amount of net achieved deficit reduction accomplished through the reconciliation and appropriations process. Sequestration for fiscal year 1989 would be the lower of: (a) the amount necessary to reach the fixed target of $136 billion, or (b) $36 billion from the defined budget baseline. For each of fiscal years 1990 through 1993, a fixed target would apply, with a margin of $10 billion for fiscal years 1990 through 1992, and $0 for fiscal year 1993. The fixed targets are as follows:

[In billions of dollars]

	Target	Margin
Fiscal year:
1988	[1] 144	10
1989	[2] 136	10
1990	100	10
1991	64	10
1992	28	10
1993	0	0

[1] Net deficit reduction of $23 billion is required in fiscal year 1988, regardless of the target.

[2] Maximum sequestration in fiscal year 1989 is $36 billion.

The act imposes several reporting requirements on OMB and constrains OMB's use of economic and technical assumptions in the sequestration process.

The act grants the President authority such that if a sequester were to go into effect, he or she would be allowed to determine the amount of military personnel to exempt from sequestration (subject to notifying Congress by a certain date) and would be allowed to propose changes to Congress redistributing a fixed amount of defense budget outlay reductions within and accross defense accounts. However, the President would not be allowed to increase any defense program, project, or activity above its appropriated level, and the proposed redistribution would have to be affirmed by an amendable joint resolution considered on an expedited basis. The President would not be allowed to sequester from national defense accounts by modifying or terminating existing contracts.

H.J.Res. 395 (Mr. Whitten); Public Law 100-202; app. Dec. 22, 1987.

H.J. Res. 395 provided for further continuing appropriations for fiscal year 1988. The resolution was reported from the House Appropriations Committee on Oct. 29, 1987, and passed the House on Dec. 3, 1987. In the Senate, H.J. Res. 395 was reported from the Committee on Appropriations on Dec. 8, 1987. The resolution passed the Senate amended, on Dec. 12, 1987.

As amended by the Senate, H.J. Res. 395 included tax provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means as follows: (1) Senate amendment number 4 allowed college football coaches to maintain a tax-qualified multiemployer pension plan which would include a cash or deferred compensation option, and (2) Senate amendment number 9 exempted Federal employees participating in the Federal Employee Retirement System (FERS) from the Internal Revenue Code's antidiscrimination rules.

On Dec. 14, 1987, Chairman Rostenkowski wrote to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee to urge the House conferees to disagree to these two Senate amendments. However, the conference agreement which was filed in the House on Dec. 22, 1987, included both provisions. The House and Senate both agreed to the conference report on Dec. 22, 1987.

The President signed the resolution into law on Dec. 22, 1987, as Public Law 100-202.

H.Res. 127 (Mr. Matsui with cosponsors); passed House Mar. 25, 1987.

H.Res. 127, relating to the semiconductor antidumping enforcement agreement, was ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on Mar. 25, 1987. The resolution was reported with an amendment that declares that the President should communicate with Japan to insure that Japan fulfills its commitment under the terms of the telecommunications negotiations. The committee was discharged from further consideration on Mar. 25, 1987, and on that same day the resolution passed the House with the amendment included.

H.Res. 235 (Mr. Rostenkowski); House passed July 30, 1987. (Returning to the Senate S. 829.)

H.Res. 235, introduced on July 30, 1987, returns to the Senate the bill S. 829, legislation passed by the Senate to authorize appropriations for the United States International Trade Commission, the United States Customs Service, and the Office of the United States Trade Representative for fiscal year 1988.

S. 1793 (Mr. Moynihan with cosponsors); passed Senate Oct. 20, 1987. (See P.L. 100-203 (H.R. 3545) for related action.)

S. 1793, to reinstate and make permanent the disregard of non-profit organizations' in-kind assistance to SSI and AFDC recipients, was introduced in the Senate on Oct. 16, 1987, and referred to the Senate Finance Committee. On Oct. 20, 1987, the Senate Finance Committee was discharged and the bill passed the Senate with a technical amendment. On Oct. 22, 1987, S. 1793 was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. A similar provision was included in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-203).

S. 1937 (Mr. Byrd with cosponsors); passed Senate Dec. 9, 1987. (See P.L. 100-203 (H.R. 3545) for related action.)

S. 1937, a bill to amend title II of the Social Security Act to continue disability benefits during an appeal, was introduced and passed by the Senate by unanimous consent on Dec. 9, 1987.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means on Dec. 15, 1987. A similar provision was included in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-203).

S. 1994 (Mr. Cranston); passed Senate Dec. 21, 1987. (See P.L. 100-203 (H.R. 3545).)

S. 1994, a bill to prevent fraud and abuse in housing and urban development programs, provides that the Secretary of HUD could require that applicants and participants in HUD-assisted housing programs disclose their social security numbers and allow HUD access to wage and salary information.

S. 825, the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987, contained a similar provision, but was deleted in conference due to objections from the Committee on Ways and Means.

S. 1994 was introduced and passed in the Senate on Dec. 21, 1987. The bill was referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs on Dec. 22, 1987.

A similar provision was included in Public Law 100-203 (H.R. 3545).

S.Con.Res. 21 (Mr. Danforth with cosponsors); passed Senate Mar. 26, 1987.

S. Con.Res. 21 expresses the sense of Congress that the Administration should vigorously oppose the proposal by the European Community (EC) to establish a tax on vegetable and marine fats and oils, and urges the Administration to communicate the message to the EC that the United States will view such a tax as inconsistent with GATT obligations that will result in adoption of strong and immediate countermeasures. S.Con.Res. 21 was reported to the Senate by the Finance Committee on Mar. 23, 1987, and passed the Senate on Mar. 26, 1987. The resolution was referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Foreign Affairs on Mar. 30, 1987.

S.Con.Res. 27 (Mr. Durenberger with cosponsors); passed Senate Mar. 26, 1987.

S.Con.Res. 27, expressing the sense of the Congress that the U.S. Trade Representative should investigate the rulings of the Canadian Import Tribunal involving United States exports of corn to Canada, was reported to the Senate by the Committee on Finance on Mar. 23, 1987. The resolution passed the Senate on Mar. 23, 1987. It was referred to the Ways and Means Committee on Mar. 30, 1987.

S.Con.Res. 77 (Mr. Lugar with cosponsors); passed Senate Sept. 18, 1987.

S.Con.Res. 77, expressing the sense of the Congress in opposition to the third country meat directive by the European Community requiring individual inspection and certification by the European Community of United States meat plants and urging the President to take strong countermeasures should the European Community deny U.S. meat imports because of the unfair application of the directive, was placed on the Senate calendar on Sept. 17, 1987, and passed the Senate on Sept. 18, 1987. The resolution was referred to the Ways and Means Committee on Sept. 22, 1987.
